RECORD MARCH TO POLLS NEARS

Reds Reject Jap Peace Move, Continue Attacks

ACCUSE NIPPON OF FOMENTING 'GENERAL WAR'

Soviets Claim New Victory in Border Fighting, Warn They Will Not Yield.

SITUATION MORE SERIOUS

Russians Refuse to Agree to Plan for Mutual Withdrawal of Troops From Area.

(By International News Service)

MOSCOW—Claiming a new victory along the embattled Siberian-Manchoukuoan border, Soviet Russia today turned down the latest peace proposals advanced by Japan and accused Nipponese commanders of purposely seeking a general war with the U. S. S. R.

A government communique on the talk last night between Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu and Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov warned Japan that the Soviet Union will not yield an inch in the Far East even if it means a major conflict.

Claim Victory.

The Soviet rejection of Nipponese peace offers, heightening the possibility of major hostilities between the two nations, followed a soviet Red army announcement claiming a Soviet land and air offensive captured the entire Changkufeng district.

All Japanese forces were expelled from the disputed territory, it was claimed. (This assertion was denied as "ridiculous" by authorities in Tokyo.)

In addition, the announcement of the diplomatic negotiations laid upon Japan "full responsibilities for the victims of both sides."

Accusing Japanese commanders of launching attacks at the frontier the Soviet communique stated:

"This was an attempt in time of peace to seize Soviet territory and draw Japan into war with the U. S. S. R.

Refuse to Withdraw.

Japanese peace overtures rejected by Litvinov consisted of a proposal for mutual withdrawal of troops a short distance from their present positions in the disputed Changkufeng region. Tokyo also suggested the forces of each side retain the positions they might hold at the moment a frontier-defining agreement should be reached.

But Litvinov curtly told the Japanese envoy:

"In no case is any agreement possible if any Japanese troops remain within Soviet territory. It is true they are at present not there, but they could appear there

Election Party!

To the old axiom "just as certain as death and taxes" might be added "and as certain as The News-Journal's election night party."

That election night party is something of an institution in Mansfield—the staff working all night, the screen high on the building across the street from The News-Journal building, streets roped off at the intersection of Fourth and Walnut, hundreds congregating there to watch the returns—the first available in Mansfield.

Tomorrow night The News-Journal will give its usual party and on the big screen across the street there will be flashed the votes, precinct by precinct, county by county, the people's choice between Martin L. Davey and Charles Sawyer, the bitterly fought battle for Democratic gubernatorial nomination and all the other vital contests.

Mansfield's own special election for three bond issues will be flashed from the screen a few minutes after the count has been made in the various precincts.

The Associated Press will supply returns from the entire state while The News-Journal's own staff of workers will compile the results from each ward and precinct in the county.

Special telephone service will be provided for those who do not come down town for the election party, and returns may be secured by calling Canal 4251.

CALLS BERRODIN

Security Board Summons Ohio Pension Chief.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The social security board today announced that it had decided to summon Henry J. Berrodin, head of the state department of public welfare of Ohio, and two of his assistants to Washington for examination in the forthcoming board investigation into alleged political coercion of Ohio's old age pensioners.

Governor Martin L. Davey, author of one of two "open" letters to pensioners which roused the board's ire, will not be asked to appear, the board disclosed. The inquiry will center on the activities of Berrodin's department, and any part Davey plays in the hearings will be voluntary, it was emphasized.

POINT TO NEED OF RELIEF LEVY

Madison Officials Make Last-Minute Appeal for Passage of One-Mill Assessment.

In a last minute appeal to voters of Madison township, two officials of the township issued a statement today stressing the need of passing the relief bond issue which comes before voters tomorrow.

Madison township trustees are asking for a one-mill levy on real estate to pay the costs of relief in the township. This is in addition to the two-mill levy that is being sought for the city of Mansfield. Because Mansfield is a part of Madison township, city electors will ballot on both issues tomorrow.

The appeal was signed by J. W. Selby, member of the board, and Fred J. Stahlheber, clerk, and explained the need for an additional $4,000 per month for relief. They now receive $1,000 a month from the sales tax and $200 from their general fund.

In November, 1936, the statement points out, county commissioners took over the handling of Madison township relief, which by March of this year had grown to approximately $5,000 a month.

"There is no chance for us to levy in our budget for relief," the statement said, "as the ten mill limit has already been reached. In March we crippled our road and bridge fund to the extent of $10,-

'Minute Men' of Sales Crusade Begin City Canvass Tomorrow

Thirty-five Mansfield boys who answered the appeal of the "Sales Mean Jobs" committee for "minute men" to carry the business recovery crusade to Mansfield housewives, will start out tomorrow morning to canvass the city and contact every housewife.

The boys, representing colleges and universities from all parts of the country and who are now home on vacation, met this afternoon for final instructions on their "missionary work." They will "take to the field" at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

The second pep meeting of the crusade, entering its second week, will be a breakfast at 7:45 a. m. tomorrow at the Mansfield-Leland hotel for employers of sales people and workers in the sales field.

The crew of collegians will carry the message of the business campaign to housewives, and will distribute the "Sales Mean Jobs" primers through the city.

The crusade, which is designed to arouse normal buying and thereby increase manufacturing and employment, opened n Mansfield last Tuesday night with a public rally in Central park.

DROWNINGS AND TRAFFIC KILL 15 IN STATE

County Free of Fatal Traffic Accidents for 5th Week; 2 Hurt in Crashes.

Two accidents in which two persons were injured, neither seriously, were reported on Richland county highways over the week-end. It was the fifth consecutive week-end that the county was free of fatal accidents.

At least 15 persons, however, died in the state as the result of traffic crashes and drownings. Only seven deaths were attributed to traffic while drownings claimed the lives of eight persons.

In the lone Mansfield accident Saturday night R. W. Chestney, R. D. 5, Mansfield, suffered injuries when his car collided with a machine driven by Frank D. Many, of Cleveland, at the intersection of South Franklin avenue and Arch streets.

Condition 'Good'.

Chestney was taken to the General hospital where his condition was reported as "good" today.

In another collision on U. S. Route 30N one-half mile east of Crestline Saturday evening, state highway patrolmen reported that Mrs. Ruth Emerick, 43, of Columbus was injured when the car in which she was riding with her husband was struck from the rear during a heavy rainstorm.

According to patrolmen, Emer-

HEAT TO STAY

No Break in Torrid Weather in Sight, Forecast Says.

Temperatures in the 90's will stay at least through tomorrow with no prospects of cooling thundershowers such as in the past two days, today's weather forecast says.

A downpour Saturday and another Sunday cooled the air but sent waters gushing over farm fields and caused some damage to highways. The storms caused the mercury to drop from a high of 90 on Saturday while Sunday's peak was 89.

County Engineer H. C. Sword, completing a preliminary survey of secondary roads following the heavy week-end rains, said the storms did not cause any material damage to roads. The rain Saturday almost reached cloud-burst proportions.

Weather Observer Otto Sprunger said that rainfall for the week-end totaled 1.62 inches.

Board Makes Final School Bond Appeal

On the eve of the primary, which includes a special election on proposed bond issues, the Mansfield board of education today issued a final appeal for support of the $550,000 school bond issue tomorrow.

Members of the board, with W. L. Miller, superintendent of public schools, have worked almost continuously during the past month to acquaint voters with the urgent need for expanding the junior high system and remodeling old buildings.

They have proposed a million dollar building and remodeling project of which Mansfield school district would pay $550,000, and the federal government $450,000. Approval of the issue requires 65 per cent of the voters.

Besides the appeal of the board of education issued less than 24 hours before the election, two major labor groups added their endorsements to the school bond issue. They were the United Electrical and Radio Workers of America, of which K. L. Berry is president of the Mansfield unit, and the Richland County Industrial union council of which Mrs. Rose Bishop is head.

SAMPLE BALLOT

PROPOSED BOND ISSUE

Shall bonds be issued by the Mansfield City School District for the purpose of purchasing necessary land, erecting two new fireproof Junior High School Buildings and alterations in and additions to several existing school buildings in the Mansfield City School District in the sum of FIVE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($550,000) and a levy of taxes be made outside the ten mill limitation, estimated by the County Auditor to average eighty-three hundredth of a mill for a maximum period of twenty years to pay the principal and interest of such bonds.

CLEVELAND — (INS — Rising with the continued slow upward trend in demand, the National Steel operating rate rose three points last week to 40 per cent of capacity, the magazine Steel reported today in its weekly summary.

Production continued to exceed the demand slightly, indicating that the mills are building up their stocks in anticipation of better business soon, Steel said.

BARKLEY WINS IN KENTUCKY BY 50,000 VOTES

Chandler Concedes Defeat in Senate Contest; Wife Hits at Federal Spending.

BULLETIN

FRANKFORT, Ky. — (INS — Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler today conceded Saturday's bitterly contested Democratic senatorial primary victory to his opponent, U. S. Senator Alben W. Barkley.

By PAUL T. SMITH

(By United Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—U. S. Sen. Alben W. Barkley, favorite of President Roosevelt, was conceded to have won the Democratic nomination to the U. S. senate over Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler today. His indicated majority was 50,000 votes.

Although Chandler, secluded in the executive mansion at Frankfort, declined to make a statement, his wife, Mildred, and Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson, conceded.

"Happy is going to make a statement and congratulate Senator Barkley, of course," Mrs. Chandler said.

Unofficial tabulations of Saturday's votes in the Democratic primary gave Barkley 224,601 and Chandler 189,967 in 3,320 of 4,310 precincts. The official counting was resumed today. Kentucky law prohibits tabulating votes on Sunday.

Mrs Chandler said "Happy's defeat was caused by the 250 to 300 millions of federal funds spent or promised in the campaign."

'We Have No Rancor.'

"We are not bitter and have no rancor," Mrs. Chandler said.

Barkley wired President Roosevelt that "it looks like my majority will be between 60,000 and 70,000 votes.

Barkley is completing his second term in the senate.

Barkley, at his Paducah home, thanked voters for an "overwhelming victory." "It was a triumph of volunteers over a political machine," he said.

Because of interest in this contest less than a third of the precincts had reported in the Republican senatorial contest in which John P. Haswell, Hardinburg attorney, was favored to win over four opponents.

STILL SMILING

Tired Corrigan Takes Off for Boston Reception.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Douglas Corrigan, still smiling after a three-day reception at the hands of New Yorkers, was to take off today for Boston for a rousing reception from Beantown's predominantly Irish citizens.

Before motoring to Newark, his take-off point for Boston, Corrigan visited Roosevelt field and gave specific instructions for unpacking and assembling his dismantled $900 crate in which he flew to Dublin. The craft arrived aboard the S. S. Lehigh this morning.

Corrigan "rested" yesterday as he visited points of interest in New York and attended several receptions in his honor.

Boy, 5, Who Wandered For 5 Days in Ontario Brush, Found

(By United Press)

STURGEON FALLS, Ont. — Five-year-old Fernand Tessier, who survived five days alone in wild, terrifying brush country populated by wild animals, was a hero today to the whole Nipissing district.

Neighbors came to pat his head and call him a brave and resourceful little man, and to ply him with questions. They found him in bed, against his will, and uncommunicative. His parents assumed that he had eaten berries, the only sustenance that the wilderness provides, and that he was too young to realize the perils he had undergone.

A searching party of farmers who found him late Sunday had to run him down. He ran when he saw them coming and the story learned from his footprints was that several times previously he had hidden in thickets when other searchers passed near him.

He was found only a half mile from home, from where he strayed last Wednesday, but he was a wanderer in a jungle that even the native trappers enter timidly —where men have been lost and died, or have gone crazy with terror.

Unmindful of all this, Fernand went out in search of berries. While he foraged, 400 farmers and trappers searched for him. They had been almost ready to give up when they found him.

HEATED RACES, SPECIAL ISSUES STIR UP VOTERS

Bitter Fight Between Davey, Sawyer Overshadows County and District Contests.

BONDS IN SPOTLIGHT, TOO

Sawyer Aids Charge Davey Forces With Mailing Fake Letters in Final Flurry.

Democratic and Republican electors in Richland county and throughout Ohio prepared today for an expected record-smashing march to the polls tomorrow to nominate candidates for state offices, congressional seats and to decide three strictly local proposals, one providing for a bond issue and two others for tax levies.

The eve of the primary election saw the close of one of the most torrid Democratic fights in years in the race for the gubernatorial nomination, between Gov. Martin L. Davey, seeking a third term, and Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati.

Senate Races Heated, Too.

Another highlight of the state primaries are the races between Judge Arthur H. Day of Cleveland and Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati for the Republican nomination for United States senator, and that between Senator Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland and George White of Marietta, battling for the Democratic senate nomination.

Interest in the Davey-Sawyer and Day-Taft fights overshadowed races for congressional nominations and the two strictly county contests, those for the Republican and Democratic nomination as county representative in the Ohio general assembly.

Hot Day To End Hot Vote Drive

A hot ending for a hot primary is in the offing for Richland county and Ohio voters tomorrow, according to a U. S. weather bureau forecast. Sweltering temperatures will continue through tomorrow which probably will be fair, the weatherman said.

A final flurry of excitement in the gubernatorial race was brought on today when Sawyer campaign managers charged that Davey forces had mailed fraudulent letters to Catholic and Protestant voters of the state. A number of the letters were received in Mansfield.

In one of the letters, Sawyer forces charged, that the name of J. A. Colescott on supposedly Ku Klux Klan literature is a forgery. The letter, Sawyer aids charge, says Sawyer is pledged to oppose Japs Fail to Find Missing Clipper Reported Found.

TOKYO — (AP) — The steamer Canberra Maru was reported today to have reached Douglas reef and found no trace of the Hawaii Clipper which disappeared July 28 while flying from Guam to Manila.

The government ordered a continued search of the area, about 800 miles south of Japan.

The steamer, en route from Australia to Japan, had been requested by the Japanese navy Sunday to go by way of Douglas reef to look for the missing flying boat.

The Japanese navy's announcement of the order said the United States embassy had reported the airplane found and asked aid, but the embassy later denied this.

Sheriff Tells of Early Suspicion Cast on Deputy

CARROLL CASE WITNESS HITS DEFENSE BLOW

Reveals Another Deputy Felt Carroll Was 'Real Slayer' of Doctor and Wife.

(By United Press)

SOUTH PARIS, Me. — High Sheriff Fernando F. Francis testified today that he was informed that his trusted subordinate, Francis M. Carroll, was the "real slayer" of a country doctor on the day that Paul (Buddy) Dwyer was sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime.

Under cross-examination as the Carroll murder trial entered its second week, Francis was asked when his suspicions as to Carroll's part in the murder last Oct. 13 of Dr. James G. Littlefield were first aroused.

"The last day of Paul Dwyer's trial," he replied.

"Why?" asked Defense Counsel Clyde R. Chapman.

"The fact was that I was told the story very nearly like the story that was told to this jury."

"Did Paul Dwyer tell you?"

"No."

"Where did you hear it?"

"From Deputy Sheriff Sidney Verrell."

Dwyer, 19-year-old former sweetheart of Carroll's daughter Barbara, pleaded guilty Dec. 2 to the Littlefield murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Francis testified that Carroll's gun was not at the office on the night the doctor was slain. He searched for a weapon when he left to make an arrest, he said, but found none. Carroll is accused of using the revolver to bludgeon Dr. Littlefield before strangling him.

When arrested in New Jersey at the wheel of a car containing the bodies of both Dr. and Mrs. Littlefield, Dwyer confessed killing the woman as well as the doctor. Now he contends Carroll killed them and intimidated him into confessing the double slaying.

Members of the sheriff's staff at the county jail are convinced that dogs are pretty intelligent animals. "Skippy," the jail's fox terrier mascot, has become a good friend of William Miller, county dog warden, traditional enemy of canines. Now, Sheriff E. P. If you happen to be looking for a number in the new telephone directory and run across a prefix that is different than those used in the past, don't think it is an error in printing, because three new prefixes have been added to the eight used for the past several years. FINAL SESSION

Boy Scout Summer Camp to Come to Close This Week.

The fourth and final period of the annual Boy Scout summer camp at Camp Avery Hand, jr., opened Sunday with 56 Scouts from the Johnny Appleseed Area in attendance, the same number that attended each of the first three periods. The attendance at the summer camp was the largest in the history of the area, according to Floyd Dent, area scout executive.

The feature of the final period will be an area court of honor to be held Thursday evening, during which some 100 scouts will receive advancement and merit badge awards. The court will replace a "parents' night" program held during the first three weeks.

The 56 scouts who were at camp last week returned home Sunday afternoon.

OUSTER FAILS TO RESTORE PEACE

Expelled UAW Officers Plan Appeal to Special Convention of Union.

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT — The expulsion of four high officers of the United Automobile Workers of America and the suspension of a fifth failed to restore harmony today in the strife-torn CIO union.

The four former officers said in a statement they would seek a special convention of the UAW and appeal to the rank and file "to clean out the real enemies of the union."

The union's executive board expelled Vice President Richard T. Frankensteen, Ed Hall and Wyndham Mortimer Saturday night. A month ago today it expelled George F. Addes as secretary-treasurer and he was replaced by Delmond Garst, board member from St. Louis.

Walter N. Wells, another international vice president, was suspended from June 13 to Sept. 13. Homer Martin, U. A. W. president, suspended the five on June 13, charging they were seeking to wreck the union and conspiring to turn it over to communists.

Wells, however, was not convicted on the communism charge—one of nine against the men—thereby drawing a lighter penalty.

"The verdict was no surprise," the convicted officers said in their statement. "It was dictated by Jay Lovestone."

They had accused Martin of being dominated by Jay Lovestone, former national secretary of the Communist party.

CIO FILES NEW PROTEST WITH LABOR BOARD

Ohio National Guard Officers to Testify Today Before Senate Committee.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Termination of the senate civil liberties committee investigation into the 1937 "little steel" strike this week was the goal set today by Chairman LaFollette as he studied reports on the Company-CIO clashes in Warren, Massillon and Canton.

Fresh charges of unfair labor practices against the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company were lodged with the national labor relations board today by the CIO.

The new allegations accused the company of maintaining company unions, blacklisting about 225 workers, and discrimination, threats and violence against CIO members.

According to the union, the alleged anti-union activities occurred at the companys South Chicago, Indiana Harbor, Ind., and Youngstown, O., plants.

Officers Testify.

Five ranking officers of the Ohio national guard will be questioned on the part national guard troops played in the strike. They were ordered into the trouble zones by Gov. Martin L. Davey. The steel mills reopened soon after the troops patroled the strike areas.

Charges have been made by organizers of the SWOC that the national guard broke the strike. Leaders of the back-to-work movement countered that the employes would have returned to work without guardsmen patroling the entrances to the plants.

After the testimony of the national guardsmen has been received, LaFollette will question Tom M. Girdler, board chairman of the Republic Steel corporation, and D. H. Dalton, board chairman of Youngstown Sheet and Tube. Girdler has been slated to testify Thursday. It was expected that Dalton would also be heard Thursday.

Upon conclusion of the current hearings the committee plans to recess until after the November elections.

2 O. S. R. Inmates Walk Away From Institution Farm.

Two trusties who walked away from the Mansfield reformatory farm Saturday afternoon were still at large today, Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said

Glattke said the inmates were found to be missing from the poultry farm at 4 p. m. Saturday. A posse of reformatory guards were unsuccessful in their search of the grounds and vicinity.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Refusal of $2 Loan Now Revealed as the Cause of Army Court Martial Case

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—In the recent court-martial of Lieutenant Colonel Stewart S. Giffin, on charges of drunkenness and unbecoming conduct, the complaining witness, Lieutenant James O. Smith, jr. of the reserve, admitted that he had demanded money from the colonel and that when the demand was refused he said, "I am going to get you." He also testified that if the colonel had given him a couple of bucks he probably would not have made any complaint.

Webster's new international dictionary defines blackmail thus: "To extort money by intimidation, especially by exposure to public accusation, censure or disgrace."

Colonel Giffin refused to hand over money to Smith, and he was actually exposed, censured and, to some degree, disgraced, for, although he saved his pension, he leaves the army after 30 years of service with a smudge on his record which would not be there had he given Lieutenant Smith "a couple of bucks."

* * *

This means that under the present hypocritical code by which army officers live, all officers in the various services are barnyard ducks for blackmailers if they take a few drinks on their own time and that the service courts stand ready to serve the malice and cupidity of personal enemies.

Hugh Johnson says that the drinking in the officer set is exaggerated and that many officers are abstainers or very abstemious drinkers at worst. There is no doubt of that. In any group of similar numbers there would be abstainers, even prohibitionists.

But most officers do drink somewhat, and in any company of drinkers there are sure to be a number who will slop over on Saturday nights or other occasions, always with this result: That their companions in the service set who see them obviously tight and rejoicing in an undignified manner must shirk their duty or violate the first principle of decent social conduct by turning them in.

* * *

Fortunately for the self-respect of the corps they rarely file charges, but it is not a fair code which compels a man to choose whether he will play the snitch or violate his oath out of a decent respect for the opinion of mankind.

The armed forces find themselves living under a localized eighteenth amendment which they violate with great abandon, but always at the risk of outrageous punishment.

In the days of national prohibition their case was even worse. Officers drank, but in doing so they violated not only the rules but the United States constitution, which they had solemnly sworn to uphold. Nevertheless, even at West Point in those days, the commissioned officers had their own "pub" at Mike Maxey's quaint little hillside speakeasy, and public opinion on that extremely regulation post openly conspired against the official but artificial concept of duty.

* * *

Moreover, there was one general at the post during the time of prohibition of whom it came to be known that he had a curiously defective sense of smell. He could smell most things normally well, but he couldn't smell liquor on an officer's breath.

In the course of time, however, changes occurred, as they will on army posts, and Mike Maxey's speakeasy was placed out of bounds. Mike so missed his officer friends and so keenly felt the suggestion that his quiet little officers' pub was a disorderly place that he soon died. Not only that but fear and suspicion spread through the post.

* * *

Officers who had been in the habit of entertaining in their quarters felt that anyone might be summoned next day and asked to say, on his honor, whether he had observed any violations of the eighteenth amendment. And a high-ranking shoo-fly might come dancing on the door in the midst of a party and rank his way into the merrymaking in the technical status of guest but with the mission of a raider.

During this time the army side even ceased to sing the best West Point football song of all, the lament for Benny Havens, of whom Edgar Allan Poe in his brief and gloomy career at the Point wrote that he was the only congenial soul in the whole God-forsaken place.

Benny Havens had been put off the reservation and had set up his pub outside, and it was now deemed unseemly for officers and cadets at West Point games to be heard in public "singing sentimentally for Benny Havens"—seventy years after.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—I've just witnessed Frank Lloyd's biggest moment in nine weeks. I saw him shoot the final scene of "If I Were King."

The producer-director sat beside the camera. At the other side stood Ronald Colman, a beardless Francois Villon in a comfortable modern suit. Before the camera stood Frances Dee, dark hair flowing, white robes flowing—a medieval French princess ready for a close-up.

"I know," said Frances, "what would make them fight."

"What?" said Colman's off-stage voice

"They would fight if they were hungry — those fat generals and their men, forever stuffing themselves with food and drink. Pigs, all of them!"

* * *

That was all. "If I Were King" was finished, slightly under schedule. There were goodbyes and thank-you's all around. Colman vanished. So did Princess Dee—the latter, I learned, having just earned $550 for those two speeches. Coleman earned considerable more for his one word. But you ought to see them earn it on a full day.

"I don't know when I've been so glad to see a picture finished," Lloyd volunteered en route to the commissary for lunch. "And I don't know when I've been so tired."

There were Lloyd, his young associate producer Lou Smith; Lance Heath, who gets depressed when he's assigned to other units than Lloyd's; and myself. All of us know Lloyd, blue-eyed, black-browed Scotsman, had gone ahead with the picture when he should have geen in bed. Had a bad leg injury several weeks back. So all of us felt sorry for him—until he began on his vacation plans. Little Norwegian boat, 28 days at sea, reading, sleeping, eating, resting. Sympathy? We were green-eyed.

But he'll have to stay here on the picture until September. I gave a little so-sorry talk.

"Not at all," Frank insisted. "The hard part's finished. No more worrying about people getting hurt in sword play and mob scenes. No more tension, all of us straining to get each scene right. All we have left now is to cut it, put it together, synchronize the music—and then take it somewhere for the sneak preview. That's the night I'm going to sweat. That's the night I'm going to tear my fingernails out, while the audience makes up its mind!"

* * *

"Got a next one picked out?" I asked

"Lou's been handing me a lot of scripts to read, but I don't trust myself when I'm this tired. Temptation to pick an easy one is too great. And the easy ones don't often make the best ones."

I asked Lloyd why he didn't try a modern story for a change after "Wells Fargo," "Maid of Salem," "Mutiny on the Bounty" and this.

"I'd like nothing better," he replied with enthusiasm, "but I can't find a good one. Trouble with most is the women. Women are being written as they fancy themselves — in roles in business, law, medicine. I think what women want in pictures is more chivalry and gallantry. There are too many modern stories in which the hero expresses devotion by socking his lady in the jaw. That's why I think 'If I Were King' is going to meet a demand—for real romance."

So you see, ladies, it's up to you.

CANNED!

MICKEY. unemployed.

Cochrane, Fired by Tigers, May Replace Cronin at Boston, Report.

DETROIT — (UP) — If Mickey Cochrane ever returns to baseball, he hopes it will not be as manager. He said this today, as he prepared to take his family for a vacation in Wyoming.

"If a thing like that can happen to you," he said, "then its not the kind of a job for me."

Cochrane referred to his surprise removal as manager of the Detroit Tigers Saturday after his club had dropped four games in a row. "Black Mike," leader of the Bengals since 1934, was succeeded by his coach, Del Baker.

In a quick visit to Briggs stadium yesterday, Cochrane packed his uniform, cleared his desk for his successor and said goodbye to Baker and the Tigers. Then he went over to the dressing room of the Boston Red Sox for a brief chat with Manager Joe Cronin and members of his club.

There have been reports that Mickey has his eye on a job with the Red Sox. It was not likely, however, that Cochrane would succeed Cronin for Joe has kept the gold-plated Red Sox well up in the American league race this season and still has another year to go on a five-year contract.

As Mickey shook hands with the Tigers he led to league pennants in 1934 and 1935 and to the world championship in 1935, his eyes were moist. With a half-grin, he spoke few words. He said there would be no baseball for him for some time. He plans to leave tomorrow for a ranch near Cody, Wyo.

In his first day as manager in his own right. Baker, who led the Tigers in the absence of Cochrane in 1936 and last year, saw the Bengals snap their losing streak by stopping the Red Sox in the final game of the series, 7 to 3.

"I am sorry to see Mike go," Baker said, "he was one of the swellest fellows I ever worked with. At the same time, I hope I can justify the confidence Owner Walter Briggs has placed in me."

* * *

THE new manager, a veteran of 25 years in baseball, said he would make no radical changes in the team at the outset. He indicated he would try things "as they are" for a while and begin thinking ahead toward next season.

Baker came to Detroit after managing Beaumont, the Tiger farm club in the Texas league. He is recognized as a great teacher, with a sharp understanding of how to handle rookies.

Three Hurlers Take Part In No-Hit Game

Canzols Beat Galion Team, 13 to 0, With Ease.

A no-hit game in which three pitchers participated featured the Ira D. Ling Canzols' 13 to 0 victory over the Canfield Oils of Galion on the losers' diamond Sunday.

Theaker started on the mound. Pittinger followed him and Willard Lockhart finished the game, and the Canfields were unable to touch any one of the three for as much as a single as the Canzols played errorless ball behind them. Only four players reached first on bases on balls.

The Canzols pounded out nine hits, with Manager Kuyler collecting four to lead the way. Bogantz hit a home run.

The Canzols scored one in the first, four in second and three in the third. Hammer, who started on the mound for Galion was replaced in the third by McBride, who held the Canzols scoreless until the eighth.

Marathon Golfer Keeps on Shooting

CHICAGO—(INS)—With 198 holes of golf behind him for the week-end, J. Smith Ferebee traced a reluctant path back to his Lasalle street brokerage office today.

The 31-year-old enthusiast who won a Virginia farm and several thousand dollars Friday by playing 144 holes between dawn and dark eased off with a single round of 18 Saturday and then spent the day on the links yesterday with another 36-holes. He shot a neat 81 in the morning and teamed up in a mixed foursome in the afternoon.

The sudden fame he won with his feat Friday still pursued Ferebee. Opportunistic city officials plan a hero's parade for him at lunch hour tomorrow.

Zediker Hits Ace

Shoots Hole-in-One on No. 18 in Tourament Play at Westbrook Course.

FEATURING the first round play in the annual Westbrook Country club tournament was a hole-in-one shot by Gene Zediker on No. 18 Sunday in his match with Jay Palmer.

Zediker, who shot a 79 while defeating Palmer, 8 to 6, used a No. 3 iron against a strong wind as he sank his tee shot on the difficult 165-yard hole in which only a couple of aces have ever been shot.

Zediker's ace was the third shot at Westbrook this season. The other two were registered by Bart Haley and Sylvester Kleshinski.

Virtually all of the play in the first round ran true to form, with the medalist, Burleigh Drummond, although not shooting as spectacularly as he did in the qualifier, defeating John Warden, 3 to 1.

Setting the scoring pace in the qualifier was Bill Black, jr., University of Michigan star, who clubbed out a 76. Zediker was next with a 79. The results of the first round matches follow:

'Be Afraid; Keep Away From Armstrong' --That's Benny Leonard's Advice to Ambers

HERE ARE A FEW SHOTS SNAPPED OF LOU AMBERS AT HIS TRAINING CAMP IN SUMMIT, N. J.

By DILLON GRAHAM

SUMMIT, N. J.—(AP)—Lou Ambers lay face down on the rubbing table, breathing easily but hungrily.

Stripped to the waist, Whitey, the pink-shouldered trainer, softly but firmly massaged the lightweight champions muscles. Lou, who risks his crown against Henry Armstrong at New York's Polo Grounds Wednesday, had just romped four rounds with a pair of fast sparring partners.

The cramped little dressing room reeked with the fumes of alcohol and rubbing liniments. Over by the open window stood a solid chap of medium height and wide-shoulders. An ex-champion he was, one of the greatest of our lightweights, now past 40 and carrying 180 pounds.

His voice was almost scolding as Benny Leonard said: "You let those sparring boys hit you too often.

"Don't let them touch you. Make 'em miss. Just box 'em. You should box 10 rounds a day against fast boys."

Ambers had gone two rounds with Slugger White, a lean ebony flash who continually rushes in, pounding with both mitts along Armstrong's style, and another two with a fast Puerto Rican, Augie Gonzales.

"This is a tricky fight. You've got the style and the skill and the speed to win," Benny said.

"Henry'll hurt you with his infighting. Don't let him clinch. Keep making him miss and he'll tire himself out and lose some of his stamina and confidence.

"Victory is going to the one who makes the other fellow fight his kind of a fight. If you stay away from him, hit him and jump aside, slap him and make him miss, and keep out of range, you can win."

Leonard, a neat figure in his pin-striped double-breasted blue suit, moved about, demonstrating and gesturing as he talked.

He jabbed with his left, slid away, maneuvered in again, feinted with the left and shot his right across, then drew back out of range. As he weaved and ducked and punched, Benny circled about as gracefully as a ballroom dancer.

"Remember, as we train, so do we fight. You think you can loaf a bit with a sparring partner, play it cute, and that you won't do it in a fight. But you're forming habits that will stay with you when you're actually fighting.

"And sometimes you moved in with your hands at your waist. That may be all right for a one-punch fighter. You can duck and swing back against that type, but not against Armstrong. He'll hook with his left and miss, but that right hook will be coming in on you fast, followed by other quick lefts and rights."

As the champion listened, nodding his head in agreement without speaking, Leonard offered a parting shot of caution:

"It would be a good idea to be a bit afraid of Henry. Be enough afraid to keep away from him.

"Just keep saying: 'No you don't, big boy. . . . Keep away, there. No clinching for me'."

And Benny was gone, leaving bright-eyed Lou to think over his problem in the quiet Jersey hills near Madame Bey's training camp.

Chorus of 'I Told You So' Heard As Indians Crack Against Yankees

ST. LOUIS—(UP)—From one end of the American league to the other, there rang out today a chorus of "I told you so" as the Cleveland Indians limped into port here to open a series with the cellar-dwelling St. Louis Browns.

The "I told you so" chorus was occasioned by the complete crack-up of the Indians in their crucial series with the pace-setting New York Yankees. The Tribe lost its third straight to the world champions at Cleveland yesterday, 7 to 0, before a crowd of 56,242 fans. The loss put the Indians 5½ games out of the lead.

As the Indians thundered down to the traditional Fourth of July mark in first place and then faltered slightly, but hung on grimly never more than 2½ games out of first place, shrewd diamond observers continually said: "They will crack wide open before long."

The chief proponent of the theory was Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yanks who branded Cleveland a "choke-up club."

The arrogant Yanks played like typical champions during the series against the Indians. On successive days they beat Bob Feller, Johnny Allen, and Mel Harder, the "big three" of the Tribe mound staff.

Harder pitched heroically for seven innings yesterday and the only runs off him over that stretch came as a result of Lou Gehrig's 18th home run of the season in the fourth inning with Joe DiMaggio on base. In the eighth, however, Harder fell to pieces and was nicked for three more tallies. Johnny Humphries pitched the ninth and allowed the final two runs.

Charley (Red) Ruffing, who disregarded a doctor's advice to rest an injured knee, was in the box for the Yanks and was at his best as he hung up his 15th triumph of the season.

Ruffing permitted only two hits, one by Roy Weatherly in the first and the other by Pinch Hitter Bruce Campbell in the eighth.

So superbly did the Yankee ace hurl that Cleveland got only one runner to third base and but two others to second.

Denny Galehouse was to work the opener here today, with Howard Mills, rookie left hander, as his pitching opponent.

The American Legion team's scheduled Central Ohio league game at Coshocton Sunday was called off, Manager Dewey Durant announced today.

Hi-Speeds Rip All-Stars In Ninth Inning

Triple, Bad Throw Give Oils 4-3 Win at Fairground.

A bad throw to third base in an effort to nip a runner enabled Earl Herrick's Hi-Speeds to turn back the Cleveland All-Stars, 4 to 3, in the ninth inning at the Fairground yesterday.

Going into the last of the ninth with the scored tied 3-all, Bob DeHaven sent out a long triple to right center, Martz DeHaven struck out, and with Manager Herrick at the plate attempting a "squeeze" play, a throw was made to catch DeHaven off third. The wild throw went into left field and DeHaven jogged home with the winning tally in the nip-and-tuck tilt.

"Soddy" Stahl hurled for the Hi-Speeds, and did a commendable job. The only inning in which he was in serious trouble was in the fifth when the visitors scored three times to go ahead 3 to 2. Stahl scattered seven hits and struck out eight while walking four.

The Hi-Speeds scored the first run in the second on an error, an outfield fly and Schmidt's single. In the fourth, Deeds singled, Schmidt sacrificed and Scott doubled for another run.

Three singles, an error and a long fly gave the visitors their three runs in the fifth to enable them to go ahead. Gannaway's long single, with Martz DeHaven, who had bunted, on second, permitted the Hi-Speeds to knot the count in the last of the fifth.

Neither team threatened seriously again until the ninth when the Hi-Speeds collected their last run

Four-Way Tie Possible In City League

Liberty, North Parks Can Tighten Race Today.

Softball representatives of Liberty and North parks can make the City Class A league race a wide-open affair today.

If the occupants of the second division come through with victories in the games scheduled today, they will throw the league race into a four-way tie for first place.

However, if they lose, their title chances will receive severe jolts, and the championship race will then result into a two-team race for the second half honors.

Liberty, which handed Prospect its first second half defeat this week, meets Johns park, first half champion, at Johns park today, while the North park's Richland County Fish and Game team meets Prospect at North park.

Moore of Rex Team Limits Colored Club to Two Hits.

The Mansfield colored Elks had a victory and a defeat to show for their efforts at Tillman's park Sunday.

In the first game, John Stoner's Rex Billiards took the measure of the lodgemen, 2 to 1, and led by Henry Ragsdale, who collected a home run, triple and double, the Elks toppled the touted Springfield Giants, 9 to 8, in the nightcap halted by rain at the end of the seventh.

Stingy With Hits.

Featuring the double bill was the pitching of Joe Moore of the Billiards, who gave the Elks only two hits in the seven-inning affray. He was the master of the Elks all the way, and was never in serious danger until the fifth when the lodgemen scored their lone run.

Moore also starred at the plate with three singles in as many official trips to the plate. The Cuemen tallied their runs in the first and second innings.

Featuring the defensive play were Hammon and Boals of the Billiards, who pulled two slick double plays to knock the Elks' scoring opportunities in the head.

Take Close One.

The lead changed hands on several occasions, with the Mansfield club tallying twice in the last of the sixth to gain their winning margin. Jones started on the mound for the Elks, but he was relieved by Walker in the sixth.

J. Brown, M. Glover and Woodson collected two hits apiece to aid the Elks' cause. Stricklin obtained four hits for the visitors.

The Elks were scheduled to meet the Rex Billiards in another game at Tillman park Sunday, but whether it was played was not reported.

Pirates, Yanks Irresistible to Nearest Rivals

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

CHICAGO—(AP)—The true test of a champion is what he does against his toughest challenger. Latest returns on that score label the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Yankees the coming champions of their respective leagues.

All doubt about the greatness of the 1938 Yankees was removed by the way in which they swept their crucial three game series against the Cleveland Indians. "Red" Ruffing limited the Indians to two hits as the Yanks scored a 7-0 victory in the finale yesterday.

Pittsburgh delivered a crushing blow to the New York Giants' pennan: hopes by sweeping a double-header at the Polo grounds, 5-1, and 1-3. By knocking the Giants down twice the Pirates stretched their National League lead to 6½ games.

Jim Tobin pitched and batted the Pirates to victory in the opener. He allowed only four hits and secured two singles which figured in runs. Gus Suhr hit a homer with a mate on base.

A seven run rally in the seventh in which Carl Hubbell was driven from the box featured Pittsburgh's victory in the second tilt. Pep Young, Lee Handley and Al Todd hit homers in the Corsairs' 15-hit attack. Mel Ott hit homer No. 27 in the nightcap for the Giants.

Cincinnati's upward climb hit a snag when the Dodgers took a pair 11-10 and 6-3.

The Chicago Cubs regained a third place tie with the Reds by dividing a doubleheader with the Boston Bees. Clay Bryant pitched the Cubs to a 7-4 win in the opener. Jim Turner blanked the Cubs in the second game, 5-0, allowing only five hits.

St. Louis and Philadelphia broke even, the Phillies winning the opener, 6-3, and the Cards taking the second game, 5-1.

Detroit won its first game under its new pilot, Del Baker, by trimming the Boston Red Sox, 7-3. Hank Greenberg hit homer No. 38. Washington divided a pair with Chicago White Sox. Monte Stratton won the opener, 14-5, in the nightcap the Senators made 17 hits to win, 12-5.

Buck Newsom's attempt to perform an iron man stunt failed when the Athletics drove him from the box in the second game after he had beaten the A's, 5-3, in the opener. Philadelphia drove him to cover in the second inning of the afterpiece and went on to win, 8-5.

Cabs, Beers and Electrics Win Opening Round Games

Marion to Battle Home Clubs In Semi-Finals Sunday; Fried of DeLuxe Outfit Strikes Out 18.

REPRESENTED BY three teams in the semi-finals to be staged next Sunday, Mansfield stands a good chance of sending the district champion to the state softball finals to be conducted in Elyria later in the month.

The DeLuxe Cabs, Beeber-Ross Beers and Hartman Electrics came through with victories in the opening round games of the district tournament at League park Sunday to advance to the semi-finals to be held on the same spot next Sunday.

The other team to advance to the semi-finals represents the Marion Merchants.

According to the schedule announced by Tournament Director Don Cram today, the Cabs meet the Hartman Electrics and the Beeber-Ross club engages the Marion outfit in the semi-finals.

Pitchers Hold Stage.

Spectacular pitching featured the opening round contests. Four of the five games Sunday were shutouts and low-hit performances were the rule rather than the exception.

The favorites of the fair-sized crowd were the Hartman Electrics, who were forced to make two appearances. Steigman yielded only one hit in the curtain raiser as he hurled the Electricians to a 2 to 0 victory over the Faultless Rubbers of Ashland and gave up only four blows as he stopped the Timken Roller Bearings of Mt. Vernon, 3 to 1, in the third game.

In the second game, Dick Van Dyne's Cabs trimmed the Pitkin Provisions of Mt. Vernon, 3 to 0, on Ben Fried's one-hit pitching stint, and the Marion club outpointed the Siler Hatcheries of Ashland, 1 to 0, Millisor limiting the losers to a pair of safeties.

The last game saw the powerful Beeber-Ross contingent take the measure of the Shellmar Products of Mt. Vernon, 5 to 0, as Jim Fullager gave up only two bits.

Perhaps the best pitching performance was turned in by Fried of the Cabs. In addition to permitting only one hit, Fried struck out 18 without issuing a single walk. Only four times did one of the Provision boys as much as hit the ball in the seven inning affray.

Fans 12 In Row.

The softball "Bob Feller" struck out 12 men in a row, and the only hit obtained by the losers was a double by Moreland in the second with two gone. Not another man reached first as Fried retired the Provisions in order.

The Cabs scored one run in the third on Fogle's single and a couple of outs. Channel and Fogel put together singles in the fifth to tally the second run, and the third and last came in the sixth when Schaefer, who had tripled, tallied on an infield out.

Steigman's "iron man" stunt was spectacular, to say the least. A couple of errors in the first inning put him in the only hot water he experienced in the first game as he hurled the Merchants to a 2 to 0 victory over the Faultless club. The only hit he yielded was a single by McEvoy in the fifth.

The Electrics did not win this game until the seventh when singles by J. Mathias and Yoakum, mixed with a couple of walks, gave them their two runs.

Steigman hurled just as brilliantly in the second game which the Merchants won at the expense of the Timken Bearings. He allowed four hits, but was never in any serious danger after the first inning when the Bearings put across their lone run. Musille's home run in the seventh ended the scoring for the Merchants.

Four Reach First.

Fullager also fashioned a mound masterpiece as he twirled the Beermen to victory over the Shellman club. Only four men reached first as he gave up only two hits. Two errors permitted the other two Shellmars to gain first as he did not issue a pass.

Led by Kenny Ross, who collected a double and two singles, the Beers tallied the biggest run total of the day as they obtained 10 hits. Hits by Kenny Ross, Hunt and Bride gave the Beeber-Ross team two runs in the first inning. Another was scored in the third on triples by Ross and Bride. An error, a sacrifice and a putout gave the Beers their fourth in the sixth, and Mahoney's home run contributed the other tally in the seventh.

Millister of Marion did not permit a runner to reach first until the sixth as he stopped the Siler team with two hits. The only two Ashland players to occupy first were Fulmer and Siler, who singled in succession in the sixth.

Held to four hits, the Marion club produced its only run in the third.

Predicts 20,000 Crowd For Wednesday's Bout.

NEW YORK—(UP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs predicted today that at least 20,000 persons would pay $100,000 to see Henry Armstrong, feather-welter champion of the world, go after Lou Amber's lightweight crown at the Polo grounds Wednesday night.

Armstrong is a steady 3-1 favorite to beat Ambers and become the first man in pugilistic history to hold three recognized titles. Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, and Al Jolson, his sponsor, have bet $1,100 to $1,000 that Lou will not go the 15 round distance.

Ontario Rings Up 10th Win

Stops Chevrolets, 9 to 3; Pat Yields Four Hits.

Bob Martin's Mohican Chevrolets found the Ontario club too tough to handle in Ontario yesterday.

They were beaten 9 to 3, and permitted only four hits as Ontario, still undefeated, rung up its 10th straight victory of the campaign.

Howard Patterson, late of the American Legion club, turned in a brilliant pitching performance against the Mohicans. He struck out 12 and walked only four men as Ontario found Potye and Boyer for 15 blows. Olin collected two of the four hits yielded by Patterson, and Dent secured two triples and Beal got three singles to lead the winners.

Baseball's First 99 Years

By GARDNER SOULE

THE DEATH of baseball was forecast by the Boston Transcript of 1877. The Harvards and the Manchesters had battled for 24 innings without either side scoring a run. Fielding would be so perfected, the Transcript thought, that scoring would be impossible.

THE FIRST admission charge (50 cents) in baseball history was made for a game between New York and Brooklyn, at the Fashion Race Course, Long Island, July 20, 1858. Fifteen hundred fans, who made a difficult trip by boat and rail, saw the game.

CANNED!

MICKEY. unemployed.

Cochrane, Fired by Tigers, May Replace Cronin at Boston, Report.

DETROIT — (UP) — If Mickey Cochrane ever returns to baseball, he hopes it will not be as manager. He said this today, as he prepared to take his family for a vacation in Wyoming.

"If a thing like that can happen to you," he said, "then its not the kind of a job for me."

Cochrane referred to his surprise removal as manager of the Detroit Tigers Saturday after his club had dropped four games in a row. "Black Mike," leader of the Bengals since 1934, was succeeded by his coach, Del Baker.

In a quick visit to Briggs stadium yesterday, Cochrane packed his uniform, cleared his desk for his successor and said goodbye to Baker and the Tigers. Then he went over to the dressing room of the Boston Red Sox for a brief chat with Manager Joe Cronin and members of his club.

There have been reports that Mickey has his eye on a job with the Red Sox. It was not likely, however, that Cochrane would succeed Cronin for Joe has kept the gold-plated Red Sox well up in the American league race this season and still has another year to go on a five-year contract.

As Mickey shook hands with the Tigers he led to league pennants in 1934 and 1935 and to the world championship in 1935, his eyes were moist. With a half-grin, he spoke few words. He said there would be no baseball for him for some time. He plans to leave tomorrow for a ranch near Cody, Wyo.

In his first day as manager in his own right, Baker, who led the Tigers in the absence of Cochrane in 1936 and last year, saw the Bengals snap their losing streak by stopping the Red Sox in the final game of the series, 7 to 3.

"I am sorry to see Mike go," Baker said, "he was one of the swellest fellows I ever worked with. At the same time, I hope I can justify the confidence Owner Walter Briggs has placed in me."

* * *

THE new manager, a veteran of 25 years in baseball, said he would make no radical changes in the team at the outset. He indicated he would try things "as they are" for a while and begin thinking ahead toward next season.

Baker came to Detroit after managing Beaumont, the Tiger farm club in the Texas league. He is recognized as a great teacher, with a sharp understanding of how to handle rookies.

Three Hurlers Take Part In No-Hit Game

Canzols Beat Galion Team, 13 to 0, With Ease.

A no-hit game in which three pitchers participated featured the Ira D. Ling Canzols' 13 to 0 victory over the Canfield Oils of Galion on the losers' diamond Sunday.

Theaker started on the mound. Pittinger followed him and Willard Lockhart finished the game, and the Canfields were unable to touch any one of the three for as much as a single as the Canzols played errorless ball behind them. Only four players reached first on bases on balls.

The Canzols pounded out nine hits, with Manager Kuyler collecting four to lead the way. Bogantz hit a home run.

The Canzols scored one in the first, four in second and three in the third. Hammer, who started on the mound for Galion was replaced in the third by McBride, who held the Canzols scoreless until the eighth.

Marathon Golfer Keeps on Shooting

CHICAGO—(INS)—With 198 holes of golf behind him for the week-end, J. Smith Ferebee traced a reluctant path back to his Lasalle street brokerage office today.

The 31-year-old enthusiast who won a Virginia farm and several thousand dollars Friday by playing 144 holes between dawn and dark eased off with a single round of 18 Saturday and then spent the day on the links yesterday with another 36-holes. He shot a neat 81 in the morning and teamed up in a mixed foursome in the afternoon.

The sudden fame he won with his feat Friday still pursued Ferebee. Opportunistic city officials plan a hero's parade for him at lunch hour tomorrow.

Zediker Hits Ace

Shoots Hole-in-One on No. 18 in Tourament Play at Westbrook Course.

FEATURING the first round play in the annual Westbrook Country club tournament was a hole-in-one shot by Gene Zediker on No. 18 Sunday in his match with Jay Palmer.

Zediker, who shot a 79 while defeating Palmer, 8 to 6, used a No. 3 iron against a strong wind as he sank his tee shot on the difficult 165-yard hole in which only a couple of aces have ever been shot.

Zediker's ace was the third shot at Westbrook this season. The other two were registered by Bart Haley and Sylvester Kleshinski.

Virtually all of the play in the first round ran true to form, with the medalist, Burleigh Drummond, although not shooting as spectacularly as he did in the qualifier, defeating John Warden, 3 to 1.

Setting the scoring pace in the qualifier was Bill Black, jr., University of Michigan star, who clubbed out a 76. Zediker was next with a 79. The results of the first round matches follow:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT—B. B. Drummond defeated John Warden, 3-1; R. C. Cosgrove defeated A. E. Allen, default; Paul Auxter defeated Henry Talmadge, no score; W. J. Spreng defeated E. H. Brown, 1-up; Bill Black, jr., defeated H. S. Jones, 5-4; E. A. Eisele defeated E. K. Bacon, 7-6; A. I. Davey defeated R. E Burns, 4-2; C. P Eisenberger defeated J. R. Murphy, 5-4. Howard Sotzen defeated W. G. 'Be Afraid; Keep Away From Armstrong' --That's Benny Leonard's Advice to Ambers

HERE ARE A FEW SHOTS SNAPPED OF LOU AMBERS AT HIS TRAINING CAMP IN SUMMIT, N. J.

By DILLON GRAHAM

SUMMIT, N. J.—(AP)—Lou Ambers lay face down on the rubbing table, breathing easily but hungrily.

Stripped to the waist, Whitey, the pink-shouldered trainer, softly but firmly massaged the lightweight champions muscles. Lou, who risks his crown against Henry Armstrong at New York's Polo Grounds Wednesday, had just romped four rounds with a pair of fast sparring partners.

The cramped little dressing room reeked with the fumes of alcohol and rubbing liniments. Over by the open window stood a solid chap of medium height and wide-shoulders. An ex-champion he was, one of the greatest of our lightweights, now past 40 and carrying 180 pounds.

His voice was almost scolding as Benny Leonard said: "You let those sparring boys hit you too often.

"Don't let them touch you. Make 'em miss. Just box 'em. You should box 10 rounds a day against fast boys."

Ambers had gone two rounds with Slugger White, a lean ebony flash who continually rushes in, pounding with both mitts along Armstrong's style, and another two with a fast Puerto Rican, Augie Gonzales.

"This is a tricky fight. You've got the style and the skill and the speed to win," Benny said.

"Henry'll hurt you with his infighting. Don't let him clinch. Keep making him miss and he'll tire himself out and lose some of his stamina and confidence.

"Victory is going to the one who makes the other fellow fight his kind of a fight. If you stay away from him, hit him and jump aside, slap him and make him miss, and keep out of range, you can win."

Leonard, a neat figure in his pin-striped double-breasted blue suit, moved about, demonstrating and gesturing as he talked.

He jabbed with his left, slid away, maneuvered in again, feinted with the left and shot his right across, then drew back out of range. As he weaved and ducked and punched, Benny circled about as gracefully as a ballroom dancer.

"Remember, as we train, so do we fight. You think you can loaf a bit with a sparring partner, play it cute, and that you won't do it in a fight. But you're forming habits that will stay with you when you're actually fighting.

"And sometimes you moved in with your hands at your waist. That may be all right for a one-punch fighter. You can duck and swing back against that type, but not against Armstrong. He'll hook with his left and miss, but that right hook will be coming in on you fast followed by other quick lefts and rights."

As the champion listened, nodding his head in agreement without speaking, Leonard offered a parting shot of caution:

"It would be a good idea to be a bit afraid of Henry. Be enough afraid to keep away from him.

"Just keep saying: 'No you don't, big boy. . . . Keep away, there. No clinching for me'."

And Benny was gone, leaving bright-eyed Lou to think over his problem in the quiet Jersey hills near Madame Bey's training camp.

Chorus of 'I Told You So' Heard As Indians Crack Against Yankees

ST. LOUIS —(UP)— From one end of the American league to the other, there rang out today a chorus of "I told you so" as the Cleveland Indians limped into port here to open a series with the cellar-dwelling St. Louis Browns.

The "I told you so" chorus was occasioned by the complete crack-up of the Indians in their crucial series with the pace-setting New York Yankees. The Tribe lost its third straight to the world champions at Cleveland yesterday, 7 to 0, before a crowd of 56,242 fans. The loss put the Indians 5½ games out of the lead.

As the Indians thundered down to the traditional Fourth of July mark in first place and then faltered slightly, but hung on grimly never more than 2½ games out of first place, shrewd diamond observers continually said: "They will crack wide open before long."

The chief proponent of the theory was Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yanks who branded Cleveland a "choke-up club."

The arrogant Yanks played like typical champions during the series against the Indians. On successive days they beat Bob Feller, Johnny Allen, and Mel Harder, the "big three" of the Tribe mound staff.

Harder pitched heroically for seven innings yesterday and the only runs off him over that stretch came as a result of Lou Gehrig's 18th home run of the season in the fourth inning with Joe DiMaggio on base. In the eighth, however, Harder fell to pieces and was nicked for three more tallies. Johnny Humphries pitched the ninth and allowed the final two runs.

Charley (Red) Ruffing, who disregarded a doctor's advice to rest an injured knee, was in the box for the Yanks and was at his best as he hung up his 15th triumph of the season.

Ruffing permitted only two hits, one by Roy Weatherly in the first and the other by Pinch Hitter Bruce Campbell in the eighth.

So superbly did the Yankee ace hurl that Cleveland got only one runner to third base and but two others to second.

Denny Galehouse was to work the opener here today, with Howard Mills, rookie left hander, as his pitching opponent.

The American Legion team's scheduled Central Ohio league game at Coshocton Sunday was called off, Manager Dewey Durant announced today.

Hi-Speeds Rip All-Stars In Ninth Inning

Triple, Bad Throw Give Oils 4-3 Win at Fairground.

A bad throw to third base in an effort to nip a runner enabled Earl Herrick's Hi-Speeds to turn back the Cleveland All-Stars, 4 to 3, in the ninth inning at the Fairground yesterday.

Going into the last of the ninth with the scored tied 3-all, Bob DeHaven sent out a long triple to right center, Martz DeHaven struck out, and with Manager Herrick at the plate attempting a "squeeze" play, a throw was made to catch DeHaven off third. The wild throw went into left field and DeHaven jogged home with the winning tally in the nip-and-tuck tilt.

"Soddy" Stahl hurled for the Hi-Speeds, and did a commendable job. The only inning in which he was in serious trouble was in the fifth when the visitors scored three times to go ahead 3 to 2. Stahl scattered seven hits and struck out eight while walking four.

The Hi-Speeds scored the first run in the second on an error, an outfield fly and Schmidt's single. In the fourth, Deeds singled, Schmidt sacrificed and Scott doubled for another run.

Three singles, an error and a long fly gave the visitors their three runs in the fifth to enable them to go ahead. Gannaway's long single, with Martz DeHaven, who had bunted, on second, permitted the Hi-Speeds to knot the count in the last of the fifth.

Neither team threatened seriously again until the ninth when the Hi-Speeds collected their last run.

Four-Way Tie Possible In City League

Liberty, North Parks Can Tighten Race Today.

Softball representatives of Liberty and North parks can make the City Class A league race a wide-open affair today.

If the occupants of the second division come through with victories in the games scheduled today, they will throw the league race into a four-way tie for first place.

However, if they lose, their title chances will receive severe jolts, and the championship race will then result into a two-team race for the second half honors.

Liberty, which handed Prospect its first second half defeat this week, meets Johns park, first half champion, at Johns park today, while the North park's Richland County Fish and Game team meets Prospect at North park.

Walks 32 Batters In 9-Inning Game

PONCA CITY, Okla.—(AP)—Pitcher Alex Swails of Muskogee feared he held a world record today. Alex walked 32 Ponca City Angels in a nine-inning Western association baseball game yesterday.

Contributing to what sport writers believed was another world record, Pitcher Hugh Kittle of Ponca City walked 11 batters for a total of 43 free trips to first in the game. Muskogee lost 7-12.

Cuemen Win as Elks Split Double Bill

Moore of Rex Team Limits Colored Club to Two Hits.

The Mansfield colored Elks had a victory and a defeat to show for their efforts at Tillman's park Sunday.

In the first game, John Stoner's Rex Billiards took the measure of the lodgemen, 2 to 1, and led by Henry Ragsdale, who collected a home run, triple and double, the Elks toppled the touted Springfield Giants, 9 to 8, in the night-cap halted by rain at the end of the seventh.

Stingy With Hits.

Featuring the double bill was the pitching of Joe Moore of the Billiards, who gave the Elks only two hits in the seven-inning affray. He was the master of the Elks all the way, and was never in serious danger until the fifth when the lodgemen scored their lone run.

Moore also starred at the plate with three singles in as many official trips to the plate. The Cuemen tallied their runs in the first and second innings.

Featuring the defensive play were Hammon and Boals of the Billiards, who pulled two slick double plays to knock the Elks' scoring opportunities in the head.

Take Close One.

The lead changed hands on several occasions, with the Mansfield club tallying twice in the last of the sixth to gain their winning margin. Jones started on the mound for the Elks, but he was relieved by Walker in the sixth.

J. Brown, M. Glover and Woodson collected two hits apiece to aid the Elks' cause. Stricklin obtained four hits for the visitors.

The Elks were scheduled to meet the Rex Billiards in another game at Tillman park Sunday, but whether it was played was not reported.

Pirates, Yanks Irresistible to Nearest Rivals

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

CHICAGO—(AP)—The true test of a champion is what he does against his toughest challenger. Latest returns on that score label the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Yankees the coming champions of their respective leagues.

All doubt about the greatness of the 1938 Yankees was removed by the way in which they swept their crucial three game series against the Cleveland Indians. "Red" Ruffing limited the Indians to two hits as the Yanks scored a 7-0 victory in the finale yesterday.

Pittsburgh delivered a crushing blow to the New York Giants' pennant hopes by sweeping a doubleheader at the Polo grounds, 5-1, and 13-3. By knocking the Giants down twice the Pirates stretched their National League lead to 6½ games.

Jim Tobin pitched and batted the Pirates to victory in the opener. He allowed only four hits and secured two singles which figured in runs. Gus Suhr hit a homer with a mate on base.

A seven run rally in the seventh in which Carl Hubbell was driven from the box featured Pittsburgh's victory in the second tilt. Pep Young, Lee Handley and Al Todd hit homers in the Corsairs' 15-hit attack. Mel Ott hit homer No. 27 in the nightcap for the Giants.

Cincinnati's upward climb hit a snag when the Dodgers took a pair 11-10 and 6-3.

The Chicago Cubs regained a third place tie with the Reds by dividing a doubleheader with the Boston Bees. Clay Bryant pitched the Cubs to a 7-4 win in the opener. Jim Turner blanked the Cubs in the second game, 5-0, allowing only five hits.

St. Louis and Philadelphia broke even, the Phillies winning the opener, 6-3, and the Cards taking the second game, 5-1.

Detroit won its first game under its new pilot, Del Baker, by trimming the Boston Red Sox, 7-3. Hank Greenberg hit homer No. 38. Washington divided a pair with Chicago White Sox. Monte Stratton won the opener, 14-5, in the nightcap the Senators made 17 hits to win, 12-5.

Buck Newsom's attempt to perform an iron man stunt failed when the Athletics drove him from the box in the second game after he had beaten the A's, 5-3, in the opener. Philadelphia drove him to cover in the second inning of the afterpiece and went on to win, 8-5.

Cabs, Beers and Electrics Win Opening Round Games

Marion to Battle Home Clubs In Semi-Finals Sunday; Fried of DeLuxe Outfit Strikes Out 18.

REPRESENTED BY three teams in the semi-finals to be staged next Sunday, Mansfield stands a good chance of sending the district champion to the state softball finals to be conducted in Elyria later in the month.

The DeLuxe Cabs, Beeber-Ross Beers and Hartman Electrics came through with victories in the opening round games of the district tournament at League park Sunday to advance to the semi-finals to be held on the same spot next Sunday.

The other team to advance to the semi-finals represents the Marion Merchants.

According to the schedule announced by Tournament Director Don Cram today, the Cabs meet the Hartman Electrics and the Beeber-Ross club engages the Marion outfit in the semi-finals.

Pitchers Hold Stage.

Spectacular pitching featured the opening round contests. Four of the five games Sunday were shutouts and low-hit performances were the rule rather than the exception.

The favorites of the fair-sized crowd were the Hartman Electrics, who were forced to make two appearances. Steigman yielded only one hit in the curtain raiser as he hurled the Electricians to a 2 to 0 victory over the Faultless Rubbers of Ashland and gave up only four blows as he stopped the Timken Roller Bearings of Mt. Vernon, 3 to 1, in the third game.

In the second game, Dick Van Dyne's Cabs trimmed the Pitkin Provisions of Mt. Vernon, 3 to 0, on Ben Fried's one-hit pitching stint, and the Marion club outpointed the Siler Hatcheries of Ashland, 1 to 0, Millisor limiting the losers to a pair of safeties.

The last game saw the powerful Beeber-Ross contingent take the measure of the Shellmar Products of Mt. Vernon, 5 to 0, as Jim Fullager gave up only two hits.

Perhaps the best pitching performance was turned in by Fried of the Cabs. In addition to permitting only one hit, Fried struck out 18 without issuing a single walk. Only four times did one of the Provision boys as much as hit the ball in the seven inning affray.

Fans 12 In Row.

The softball "Bob Feller" struck out 12 men in a row, and the only hit obtained by the losers was a double by Moreland in the second with two gone. Not another man reached first as Fried retired the Provisions in order.

The Cabs scored one run in the third on Fogle's single and a couple of outs. Channel and Fogel put together singles in the fifth to tally the second run, and the third and last came in the sixth when Schaefer, who had tripled, tallied on an infield out.

Steigman's "iron man" stunt was spectacular, to say the least. A couple of errors in the first inning put him in the only hot water he experienced in the first game as he hurled the Merchants to a 2 to 0 victory over the Faultless club. The only hit he yielded was a single by McEvoy in the fifth.

The Electrics did not win this game until the seventh when singles by J. Mathias and Yoakum, mixed with a couple of walks, gave them their two runs.

Steigman hurled just as brilliantly in the second game which the Merchants won at the expense of the Timken Bearings. He allowed four hits, but was never in any serious danger after the first inning when the Bearings put across their lone run. Musille's home run in the seventh ended the scoring for the Merchants.

Four Reach First.

Fullager also fashioned a mound masterpiece as he twirled the Beermen to victory over the Shellman club. Only four men reached first as he gave up only two hits. Two errors permitted the other two Shellmars to gain first as he did not issue a pass.

Led by Kenny Ross, who collected a double and two singles, the Beers tallied the biggest run total of the day as they obtained 10 hits. Hits by Kenny Ross, Hunt and Bride gave the Beeber-Ross team two runs in the first inning. Another was scored in the third on triples by Ross and Bride. An error, a sacrifice and a putout gave the Beers their fourth in the sixth, and Mahoney's home run contributed the other tally in the seventh.

Millistor of Marion did not permit a runner to reach first until the sixth as he stopped the Siler team with two hits. The only two Ashland players to occupy first were Fulmer and Siler, who singled in succession in the sixth.

Held to four hits, the Marion club produced its only run in the third.

Ontario Rings Up 10th Win

Stops Chevrolets, 9 to 3; Pat Yields Four Hits.

Bob Martin's Mohican Chevrolets found the Ontario club too tough to handle in Ontario yesterday.

They were beaten 9 to 3, and permitted only four hits as Ontario, still undefeated, rung up its 10th straight victory of the campaign.

Howard Patterson, late of the American Legion club, turned in a brilliant pitching performance against the Mohicans. He struck out 12 and walked only four men as Ontario found Potye and Boyer for 15 blows. Olin collected two of the four hits yielded by Patterson, and Dent secured two triples and Beal got three singles to lead the winners.

Baseball's First 99 Years

By GARDNER SOULE

THE DEATH of baseball was forecast by the Boston Transcript of 1877. The Harvards and the Manchesters had battled for 24 innings without either side scoring a run. Fielding would be so perfected, the Transcript thought, that scoring would be impossible.

HEAVENLY DAYS! YOU'VE ALL BUT WORN ME OUT TRAMPING CLEAR UP HERE, AND NOW WE HAVE TO PAY ADMISSION— I DECLARE I NEVER HEARD THE LIKE OF IT!

THE FIRST admission charge (50 cents) in baseball history was made for a game between New York and Brooklyn, at the Fashion Race Course, Long Island, July 20, 1858. Fifteen hundred fans, who made a difficult trip by boat and rail, saw the game.

CRYING NO CRIME

Court Rules Baby's Wailing Isn't Disorderly Conduct.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Whatever else it may be the crying of a baby is not disorderly conduct. So ruled Justice of the Peace Thomas W. Barrett, jr., in dismissing the complaint of a neighbor against Mrs. Mary Bickmeyer, whose 15-month-old son cried at night.

"It is not a crime for babies to cry," said Barrett, "and I wouldn't call it disorderly conduct."

NEW RUSSO-JAP CLASHES SCARE STOCK TRADERS

List Makes Scant Progress Following Slow Opening; Prices Mixed.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market shifted from one foot to the other in today's market and the result was that progress was scant in most cases.

With dealings exceptionally light following a slow opening, leading issues were a shade higher or lower near the second hour.

Moderately ahead were General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Consolidated Edison North American, Electric Power & Light, American Telephone, American Can, Philip Morris, Phelps Dodge, Johns-Manville, Celanese and Great Northern.

Inclined to lag were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Yellow Truck, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, American Smelting, Westinghouse, General Electric, Eastman Kodak, Pennsylvania and N. Y. Central.

War Fears Renewed.

Wall Street was still cheerful in the matter of the business outlook, but fresh clashes between the Russians and Japanese in the Far East brought a renewal of war fears and seemingly caused many traders to pause for further light on the international situation.

Market analysts noted the survey of the magaine "Steel" which said that, while steel production will exceed consumer requirements mills were continuing to build up stocks in anticipation of better demand within the next several weeks.

The Review thought that brighter prospects for the automotive industry as the new model year approaches heightened the likelihood for a substantial increase in steel orders from this source later in the month.

Although motor car output has dropped sharply, due to shutdowns in preparation for new 1939 models, R. L. Polk & Comany reported a virtual halt in the downward trend of new passenger car sales in July.

MAKES FINAL BOND APPEAL

School Board Calls on Voters to Support $550,000 Issue Tomorrow.

The first city councilman to make public his position on the school bond issue is Russell D. Porch, who issued a statement today that he not only endorsed the bond issue himself, but urged Mansfield voters in general to support it tomorrow.

In its appeal to the public, the board of education reiterated the main points of the million dollar project: (1) construction of a modern new fireproof John Simpson Junior high school on the site of the present building and utilizing the present fireproof gymnasiusm and boiler room; (2) construction of a fireproof, modern building for Junior high students in the southern half of the city; (3) installation of modern sanitary equipment at Hedges, Newman, Bushnell, West Fifth, Carpenter, Bowman, Prospect and Brinkerhoff elementary buildings; (4) addition of 6,000 square feet of floor space for vocational training in Senior high building; (5) rearrangement of Hedges elementary building to provide an auditorium, and (6) use of present fireproof section of Hedges for elementary grades.

The statement pointed out that the present fireproof section of the John Simpson building which houses the gymnasium and boiler room, will not be torn down, but will be incorporated in the proposed new building at a considerable saving of funds.

"If Mansfield is to keep pace with surrounding cities," H. W. Arlin, president of the board of education, said today in making the appeal to voters, "its school facilities must be improved The responsibility for safe, sanitary and well-lighted buildings is now up to the citizens of Mansfield. Their decision at the primaries Tuesday will influence the life of the city for years to come. Let's not wait for a catastrophe. Let's help boys and girls while we have them with us. Six thousand school children await the verdict of voters—which should influence them to vote "YES" on the school bond ballot."

The Russian foreign commissar in a counter-proposal demanded in effect that Japan immediately recognize the Soviet claim, under a treaty signed in 1886 with China, to the Changkufeng region. He asked Japan to guarantee not to make any further attacks on Russion positions for a stipulated period for a Russian pledge to halt artillery and air bombardments.

20 Soviet Planes Raid Korean Town.

TOKYO — (INS) — Twenty Soviet airplanes today raided Keiko, Korea, for the third successive day while 15,000 infantrymen and 200 tanks repeatedly but vainly attacked Japanese positions on Changkufeng hill, Japanese advices said.

Under heavy artillery barrages, a red army division made several efforts to storm the shell-pitted heights, but finally was driven back 400 yards, according to the Japanese. Fifty wrecked Soviet tanks were reported lying in no man's land.

NEW DEAL HOPES TO WIN THREE MORE PRIMARIES

Victorious in Kentucky, Turns Attention to Arkansas, Idaho and Ohio.

WASHINGTON—The Kentucky victory of Senate Leader Alben W. Barkley increased the hopes of administration lieutenants today for a threefold triumph in tomorrow's senatorial primaries.

Democratic Senators Robert Bulkley of Ohio, Hattie Caraway of Arkansas, and James P. Pope of Idaho will be up for the renomination as loyal Roosevelt backers.

Senator Pope's race against Rep. D. Worth Clark, however, may bring the only clearcut test of administration policies. Pope, who helped write the crop control act, has not opposed any Roosevelt measures, while Clark as a self-styled conservative voted against the government reorganization bill and various other White House proposals.

'An Old Friend'.

In Arkansas, Rep. John McClellan told a rally yesterday that he is as loyal to the president as is Mrs. Caraway, whom he is opposing. The only woman senator, completing her seventh year in office, was greeted by Mr. Roosevelt last month as an "old friend".

Former Gov. George White of Ohio, like Senator Bulkley, has campaigned as a Roosevelt supporter, but it was Bulkley who received kind words from the president in his Marietta speech.

A fourth state—Nebraska—also will conduct its primary election tomorrow, but no senatorial race is to be settled this year. Gov. R. L. Cochran and the state's five representatives are seeking nominations for third terms

Administration victories in tomorrow's three senatorial races, on top of Barkley's renomination, might encourage Mr. Roosevelt to take a more direct position in the remaining primaries than he did during his western trip last month.

Kentucky was the only state in which he asked outright for the renomination of an administration favorite. Some politicians here believe he will come out in Georgia speeches Thursday against southern senators who have fought important parts of his program.

In any event, Barkley's re-election means that the Roosevelt forces in the senate will not have to be reorganized next year

Barkley was chosen Democratic leader last year by one vote over Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, who has broken with the administration on some issues.

LAND AT PORT

10 Planes Carry Columbus 'Newsies' to Mansfield.

Mansfield's airport Sunday was the scene of activity for an hour and a half as ten airplanes entered in a speed race between Columbus and Mansfield landed at the field, according to airport officials.

The race was a part of an air show sponsored at Port Columbus by the Charity Newsies, an organization made up of former newsboys. The ten planes landed at the airport at intervals between 11 30 a m and 1 p m, and for a short period were all on the field at the same time

On leaving Columbus, the ten planes were instructed to report to Mansfield airport. Upon landing they were given a code number to show that they had landed here, and were also timed for their arrival and leaving The starting and departing time of each plane was then phoned to Columbus.

Miss Gretchen Reighard Mansfield girl parachute jumper, took part in the air show. She made her 88th jump at the port.

A Farmer's Diary

By Calvin A. Byers

COLIC

EARLY in the morning as I was walking to the barn a dark bay mare came trotting across the lawn She had a halter on I saw her flanks and neck were wet with sweat She breathed heavily as she stood still for a moment

I opened the door and put her in a stall Soon after that a neighbor's car drove up with two men. They inquired whether I had seen the animal I pointed, and said 'I put her in"

"She's had colic since 3 o'clock this morning. We phoned the veterinarian, but he's out, and won't be back till 8"

We watched the animal move about in great distress Her body was tight as a drum She rolled upon her back many times, heaved and groaned. Her eyes were glassy, and she came up close, as if to ask for help

It's been so long, now, I think she'll die," my neighbor said "I had one go this same way a few years ago. I dont' like to see her suffer. We'll be back in a little while."

I drove her from the stall into the pasture, and awaited their return In half an hour the owner was back, with a bottle of turpentine one of linseed oil, and a large hypodermic injector I watched the farmer and his helper go down through the pasture over the hill There they stopped short One pointed to a spot upon the ground, and I knew the horse was dead

My neighbor said, gravely 'Thanks for your trouble. I'll have the fertilizer people come and get her . . . I'm going, now to help thresh."

Before noon a truck drove in. We directed the driver to the spot where the horse lay. He pulled the heavy carcass on the truck with a slow-moving windlass, worked by hand, and gave me a receipt for my unfortunate neighbor.

"Where do you take your load?" I asked him

"To Columbus Before I get there I'll have eight head aboard . . . dead horses and cattle. I have the orders here in my book It's quite a job."

To My Fellow Democrats:—

As Congressman-at-large I supported the Recovery Program of the New Deal in its entirety I uphold the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt and believe that sound policies of the New Deal should be carried forward, strengthened and completed by its friends.

Congress must provide employment opportunities for youth between the ages of 18 and 25 and preserve the traditional American ideal of opportunity for youth

Your support to renominate me as Congressman-at-large will be greatly appreciated.

POINT TO NEED OF RELIEF LEVY

000 in order to meet these bills.

"By July 1 we were again out of funds, then the only recourse we had, was to ask the electors to grant us an extra one mill (only for one year, not two), which would give us about $45,000. On July 15, we were forced to allow only one half the usual amount of relief, this was again done on Aug. 1. By taking advantage of borrowing on next year's sales tax funds, which will amount to $3,045, as provided by the last session of the legislature, we will be able to meet all relief bills to date.

"If the one mill levy we ask for does not carry, we will be forced to close our doors on all relief cases. We now have 340 families on relief, who in the past six weeks have received provision orders ranging from $1.62 to $8.50, according to size of family.

"We have done everything possible to get all able bodied men on WPA jobs, but to date have not been very successful."

WE SHOULD PAY, BRITISH LORDS AGREE ON DEBT

But Opinion Rules That Part of War Bill Should Be Charged Off.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Writer)

NEW YORK—The ultra-conservative British House of Lords, which ordinarily is too proud for common gossip, has kicked over the traces and ventured to discuss with shocking abandon the forbidden subject of England's war-debt to America.

Once blue-blood is heated up it is about the same as any ordinary blood, and the noble lords spoke right out with thoughts which they were not supposed to express, and which some of them even now may regret.

The consensus of nobility was that John Bull ought to pay his bill.

England several years ago stopped making even token payments So did all the rest owing us war-debts, with the exception of Little Finland When Finland's distinguished foreign minister, Dr Rudolf Holsti, was here recently I asked him why his country persisted in paying its bill to us He replied simply that it was because Finland had promised to pay.

Point Out 'Friction.'

The debate in lords called attention to the fact that the war-debt controversy had caused friction between Britain and the United States The speakers might have gone further and said that few previous issues have caused so much resentment in the mind of the man in the street in both countries

The argument isn't all on one side apparently. If you think we have a grievance, you should hear the Englishman tell his story, as I did time and again during my many years of residence in Europe. He has been quite as annoyed over the matter as have we

However, the feeling has been growing in England that the matter has gone far enough, and that there should be an adjustment. The average Briton wants to pay, though he doesn't think he should be asked to pay the whole bill as originally set down

Many observers are beginning to recoguize, too, that the war-debt controversies have to a certain degree contributed to a situation which has resulted in broken treaties and obligations in other spheres

The Briton advances numerous arguments against paying the full indebtedness, some of them funny and some intensely annoying to the "hundred per cent" American. One naive approach is that the United States is big and rich and can afford to stand the loss.

Another argument is that this expenditure was America's just share in the war, since she "came in late."

Then they say that the war-debts owed to Britain, which are more than her debt to us have been suspended. England has agreed not to ask her debtors to pay more than she pays the United States. Another claim of the Englishman is that the only way this country could pay the war debt would be in goods, and we won't accept 'em

Rum Runner Boat of Past Sailed By Sea Scouts

NEW ORLEANS — (CP) — Time was when the Viking dodged around the coast disguised as an oyster boat with a cargo of liquor in her hold

Now the 42-foot cruiser is engaged in the ultra-respectable business of being a Sea Scout boat.

Arthur Scott, Peters high school principal, heard the government was about to destroy the Viking. On one of its "cruises" it had rammed an internal revenue ship and both smugglers and cargo had been taken.

Peters asked government agents to turn the boat over to the Sea Scouts as a training ship It did and the Scouts stripped her of everything above deck The Viking was repainted, refurnished and repolished.

SALE AFTER SALE, CAMEL BUYS MY TOP-PRICE TOBACCO. THAT WAS TRUE LAST YEAR TOO. CAMEL'S MY SMOKE —AND THAT OF MOST GROWERS I KNOW!
DAVID ELMER WELLS, TOBACCO GROWER

WILLIAM VANDIFORD knows tobacco from seedling to cigarette. His cigarette is Camel! "Over and over," he says, "Camel has bought my best tobacco. Of course I smoke Camels!"

GROWER JOHN DURHAM, JR. (above) is enjoying real smoking pleasure. Yes, it's a Camel. As Mr. Durham states, "I see the tobacco that cigarette companies buy. Camel buyers pay more to get the best of my own crops and of my friends. It's Camels for us!"

S. J. BONE CONFIRMS growers' preference for Camels with. "Camels stand ace high with tobacco planters Camel buys better tobacco—my own and that of my grower friends!"

"THIS LAST CROP," says grower Robert Lee Oakley, "Camel bought my best grade tobacco as they have many times before. Naturally I smoke Camels. So do most other planters in these parts."

LEE MASON knows tobacco—he grows it. He says: "For a finer smoke, smoke finer tobacco. That means Camels to me and most planters. Camel pays to get the best."

TOBACCO PLANTERS SAY:
"OUR FINEST TOBACCOS... the most richly fragrant and delicately mild varieties — go to Camel — naturally that's the brand we smoke!"

I SELL MY TOBACCO WHERE THEY HANDLE SPECIALLY GOOD GRADES. SALE AFTER SALE, CAMEL BIDS IN THE CHOICE LOTS. SURE I SMOKE CAMELS!

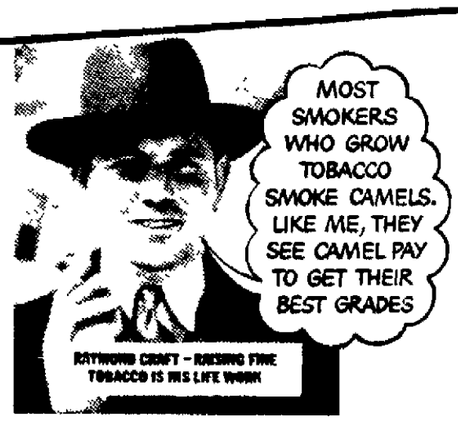
THEY ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA



MOST SMOKERS WHO GROW TOBACCO SMOKE CAMELS. LIKE ME, THEY SEE CAMEL PAY TO GET THEIR BEST GRADES
RAYMOND CRAFT—RAISING FINE TOBACCO IS HIS LIFE WORK

IS there a real difference in the tobacco that goes into various cigarettes? "Yes"—say the men who live with tobacco—the planters. These men grade their crops long before the warehouse sales. They know who buys their best grades. "Camel," say the typical planters on this page."—Camel buys our choicest lots!" So, for their own smoking, planters choose the cigarette that gets their costlier tobaccos—Camel! Yes, there is extra enjoyment in Camel's finer, more expensive tobaccos. Try Camels today! Compare them for their enjoyable taste, for their special mildness which permits steady smoking.

GROWER MARVIN HOLLOMAN speaks as an "insider" on tobacco quality. "Finer tobaccos make a big difference in smoking. Camel takes my real choice lots. So I smoke Camels. Most growers do."

MONDAY, AUGUST 8, 1938.

In Behalf of Mansfield's Children.

WHY, it has been asked, has so much attention been given to the school bond issue.

The answer is that this is the most VITALLY IMPORTANT matter to come before Mansfield voters in many years.

The more than 6,000 children now in Mansfield public schools, and the other thousands who will be coming along during another fifty years will be directly affected by the decision of voters at tomorrow's election.

If, by any chance, this opportunity to secure $450,000 in federal funds for school building purposes is rejected, it will be necessary almost immediately to devise some other plan under which local taxpayers will be required to PAY ALL of the costs of new school buildings and alterations to old ones.

Mansfield has paid off $865,000 of school bond indebtedness in the past ten years—the bond issue of $550,000 to be voted on tomorrow will add only 43 cents per thousand dollars of valuation over a period of twenty years—a small amount indeed for the privilege of providing safe and sanitary public school facilities for Mansfield's children.

The task of supervising Mansfield's public school system has been delegated to the board of education, who serve without pay. The five members of the board are men in whom the people of Mansfield have reason to feel confidence. They are: H. W. Arlin, Dr. J. S. Hattery, W. C. Mead, A. H. Fankhauser and Harold A. Bruce.

These men understand Mansfield's public school needs as few others in the city do. They have given freely of time and effort in securing information, developing plans and working out a program which they firmly believe to be the best possible way of improving our public school system at the least possible cost to taxpayers and to the greatest benefit of the city as a whole.

Unless the people of Mansfield are able—and willing—to keep up their public school system in a way that makes it favorably comparable to other cities of similar size the appearance of progress in this city is more of an illusion than a reality.

The biblical query, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" may be interpolated, for this occasion, to ask: "For what is a city profited by its large industries, its fine stores, its beautiful homes and the much money in its banks, if it fails to give heed to the safety and health of its school children?"

Military Democracy.

GREAT BRITAIN, which has boasted of its democracy ever since the World war, at last gets around to democratizing its army—an ancient aristocratic stronghold.

Changes are sweeping. The way is opened for men to rise from the ranks, whether they have money or not. Those proving their talent will get a completely free military education, including uniform and equipment.

Men will be enabled to earn their officers' commissions while in service instead of having to go through the usual academy training courses at Sandhurst or Woolwich. Officers' pay will be raised to meet the demands of their position, so that the moneyless officer will be level with the rich one.

This is partly, no doubt, an act of necessity. Unless the British government resorts to the drastic military methods of authoritarian countries, it must make military service more inviting to young men of ability. It shrewdly does so before it is driven by urgent need.

Artificial Mountaineering.

THAT recent mountaineering feat in Switzerland, where the climbers went up the face of a sheer cliff more than a mile high, like flies on a wall, in imminent peril from fierce winds and snow-slides, was grand—a great sport in its most hazardous form. But that kind of sport is going to be simpler and safer from now on. King Leopold of Belgium, who is an inveterate mountain-climber as his father was, shows the way.

He is going to build his own mountain, with all the necessary hazards and scenery, and do his climbing at his summer home at Stuyvenberg, Belgium. That will be much more convenient than going to the Alps every time the king feels like scaling a peak.

A City of Mummies.

THIS is the time of year when interesting archeological discoveries begin to be reported in numbers. The summer expeditions have gone out from colleges and universities to augment the work of the foundations which work the year around. One of the recent stories most stimulating to the imagination is that of Selim Bey Hassan, who has found at Sakkara, Egypt, a whole city of mummies. This city of the dead lies beneath the causeway which connected a valley temple with the funeral chapel of King Unas of the fifth dynasty. Approximately 20,000 of Egypt's ancient dead lie in this long-buried cemetery.

One of the bits of human knowledge now added is the answer to the question of where the Egyptians cut and dressed the granite for their statues and temples. The inscriptions in this necropolis show that there was a technical school beside the quarries of Asswan where all the dressing was done, and where students learned how to cut the stone that was shipped northward by the Nile.

So much unpleasantness has been stirred up at times by discoveries made by strangers in these old lands that it is pleasant to note that this great finding was made by an Egyptian.

Comic Comes True

CONSHOHOCKEN, PA., should put in a call for Popeye. The sailor man's current experiences with the de-mings that pull people and trees and ka-babages down into the earth should fit him to cope with Conshohocken's problem.

Mrs. Clarence Knode of that city reported to police that a full-grown maple tree in her yard had "disappeared into the earth" with a "rumbling sound." Police decided that a subterranean river was to blame. Nonsense! It was those de-mings.

WASHINGTON—Life history of a beetle:

1916—Japanese beetle makes U. S. debut at Riverton, N. J. (In that year, President Wilson kept us out of war.)

1926—Japanese beetle spreads into nearby edges of Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland. (That year Admiral Byrd flew over the North Pole.)

1936—Japanese Beetle makes page one. (It was the year, also, of the Roosevelt landslide.)

1938—FLASH: Japanese beetle invades Times Square, overruns southeast Washington.

Thus quietly, amid the big news of the world, did the bug sneak upon us.

These beetle-facts, and more, can be had by talking to Dr. Bennett A. Porter, who is the Japanese beetle expert in the Department of Agriculture. Dr. Porter has other things to do, but can't get them done. The beetles take so much time.

The beetle, only the size of a split pea, is a serious menace. It is ruthless. It destroys the gardens and crops of innocent non-combatant gardeners with the same smiling unconcern with which is eats the crops of professional farmers.

* * *

Red Faces East.

IN ALL fairness to the Japanese people it should be stated that they are ashamed of their beetle. In a quiet way some of their more public-minded scientists have suggested that it would improve Japanese-American relations greatly if the beetle were called something else.

All the department can do is to study how to combat it, and answer frantic appeals from housewives on how to have their geraniums and that fine American Beauty rose Aunt Mamie sent. Dr. Porter, while worried, does not lose his head. He explains that such scourges hit a peak and then, under proper control methods, taper off to a normal level.

Around Riverton, it is tapering off. But panic-stricken truck gardeners in the rich Maryland, Virginia, New York, Delaware and Pennsylvania countryside this year find the pest at its most damaging peak.

Telephone calls, telegrams and letters pour into the department. A woman writes that she has found a control. "Put the beetles in a pan," she says, "then sprinkle salt brine on them. It kills them."

Orchardists, seeing their fruit trees denuded and the fruit itself eaten to the stem, cannot gather up 10,000,000 bugs in a pan and pickle them.

"Nothing can be done — I'm ruined," wails a truck farmer near Elkton, Maryland. State and federal authorities co-operate with him in a spray program.

* * *

Want a Pamphlet?

A FARMER can't put poison spray on certain garden crops, such as cabbage, lettuce, beans. But a white spray, such as lime, discourages the beetles, although it is harmless. That helps.

Year by year the beetle is widening the circle of its attack. What will it do when it reaches the midwest corn belt? It destroys corn by eating the silk, preventing pollenation. Spraying probably is too costly for field corn. Maybe that problem will be solved by the time the scourge hits the midwest.

If you want to know more, the department will send you a pamphlet. You might as well get ready. The thing is moving your way year by year.

Two States Clash With Uncle Sam

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — The federal government and the governments of two separate states have come pretty near to actual physical clashes in the last few days.

The two states were not united, as the southern states were in the 1860's.

Nevertheless, quite an exciting situation is created when the authorities of an individual state warn the authorities of the United States, to keep out of that state's local affairs, or, in effect, take the consequences. For two states to do it at once is all the more exciting.

The states, as we know, were Tennessee and Iowa.

At the same time Pennsylvania was verging on something like "civil war," but that particular threat was intra-state in character; not friction between the state itself and Uncle Samuel.

* * *

POLITICAL

The Tennessee row was purely political.

Gov. Gordon Browning had his own preferences as to candidates in the recent Democratic primaries. What he calls the "Crump-McKellar machine" had preferences violently conflicting with Browning's. The machine (assuming that there is one) dominates Shelby county, which principally is Memphis. Shelby is a very populous county—probably populous enough to swing that state except in the event of a perfect landslide. Browning's idea was to throw militia into Shelby to guarantee a fair primary count there, as per his interpretation.

The machine (again assuming that there is one) got a federal court injunction against the governor's invasion of Shelby with his militia. The court order also called for the recruiting of a sufficient force of special United States deputy marshals to KEEP the militia out.

Well, as to the militia the governor finally backed down, but it was only at the last minute.

If he had not backed down there was every prospect of a knock-down-and-drag-out fight between Tennessee's state militia and an army of federal deputy marshals—which would have been a heck of a spectacle, wouldn't it? And it was only by a bee's knee that it was averted.

* * *

INDUSTRIAL-LABOR

The Iowa situation has not been so much political as industrial.

There was a strike in the Hawkeye commonwealth. Gov. N. G. Kraschel ordered state troops into the disturbed area to keep order.

Then along came representatives of National Labor Relations Board and started hearings. The governor soon took the position that these hearings were prolonging the trouble and directed his militia commander to put a stop to them. This substantially was telling the investigators for a federal agency to get to hades out of his state—or else his state soldiery would attend to them.

Well, that rumpus, too, has been flimsily patched up, but certainly it resembled a state-federal conflict of jurisdictions while it lasted.

It had its political as well as its industrial aspects, moreover. That is to say, it had no aspect of a Democratic-Republican clash, but it had its aspect as a "pro" and "anti" New Deal clash. The NLRB is a New Deal setup; Governor Kraschel seems out of sympathy with it.

* * *

IN PENNSYLVANIA.

In Pennsylvania the muss is political, but only state-widely so.

George H. Earle is governor, a senatorial candidate, and maybe a 1940 Democratic presidential possibility.

His opponents have accused him and a baker's dozen of his fellow state administrationists of various irregularities—doubtless intended to puncture his future candidatorial chances. They started a grand jury investigation into their charges.

Earle contends that, as a state official, he cannot be investigated by a county grand jury. He admits that since the legislature unquestionably is friendly to him, such an investigation cannot but be a whitewash.

Anyway, the governor called a special session of the legislature, which undertook to take the inquiry out of any grand jury's hands and make it exclusively a legislative affair.

But the Pennsylvania courts thus far have upheld grand juries.

"The North Wind Made the Vikings"

I HAVE HEARD it said that the North Wind made the Vikings . . . and I believe it.

When I was younger I did not understand the meaning of that saying and did not believe it. I thought then that a man made himself. He said, "I will be strong"—and WAS strong. He said, "I will be a leader, I will be a great inventor. I will be a genius"—and behold! he was in fact what he had said in his heart that he would be.

But now I know that it was the great wind from the north that made the Vikings strong and made them challenge the force of the blast, build their ships and brave the oceans and range the seas in their little wooden vessels . . . I am not so foolish as to believe there were no cowards among the Vikings. There were some who could not bear the blast but who put on women's clothes—or so the tale avers—and stayed at home when the great horn blew strong men forth to adventure. But it was true of the great majority of the Vikings that they felt safer in the storm than before the leaping blaze in their banquet halls. They were sons of the Great Wind and they knew it.

But if we believe that "the North Wind made the Vikings" we must also believe that a mean and unchallenging life also makes weaklings . . . Tie a child to apron strings, give him no freedom, chain him to poverty and slums, cheat him of all bold horizons, give him no opportunity to develop the best that is in him—and you have a pathetic case.

As it is true there were bullies and cowards among the Vikings who lived in the North Wind, so sometimes a great man emerges from a mean and narrow environment. Magic is made within his spirit and he lifts himself above the beaten mass, mints his golden spirit into precious coins that inenhaustibly enrich our common life. He is challenged by the very chains that hold him down and breaks them asunder.

But this is a rare miracle. The mean life degrades more than it challenges . . . It is the free life that makes the Vikings!

Editor News-Journal:

At nearly every turn we see or hear something relative to sanitation and sanitary conditions, and on various occasions articles have appeared in the News-Journal pertaining to the disposition of garbage, etc., and yet, in my opinion one of the most annoying and unsanitary practices has been entirely overlooked, namely the burning of papers, rubbish, etc., in backyard, alleys, and even in the streets, within a few feet of someone's home.

Only a few days ago people on three lots adjoining ours had such fires, and needless to say, the entire neighborhood was polluted with vile-smelling smoke most of the day and evening.

During the hot weather most people enjoy sitting on the porch and having doors and windows open, yet how can there be any enjoyment under these conditions.

It seems hardly possible that this practice could go on for months without the knowledge of the authorities, whose duty it is to see that it is not done.

A great part of this may be due to thoughtlessness on the part of those who indulge in this habit, and attention called to the danger to other peoples property and the annoyance of having ones' house filled with smoke may tend to eliminate a part of it.

However if that does no good I believe those in authority should see that it is discontinued.

Young America Says---

America Needs Good Hearts to Lick Defeatist Attitude.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOUNG ELSIE M. OLSON speaking—and saying a husky mouthful.

"Health is not something which should be enjoyed by the privileged few . . . it should be within the reach of every citizen . . . and its study should be compulsory. Most of our school systems are sadly lacking in the most important course of all . . . HUMAN HEALTH. We should have thorough instruction in food chemistry, diet and exercise in all our schools, from the elementary grades right through college, and these should be as vital and necessary as the three 'R's.'

"Education in health should not be confined to youngsters only, but for their parents as well. The parents are responsible for the nation's health and they have slipped terribly. Have you ever been to a crowded bathing beach on a hot day? How many fine, shapely bodies, fine physiques do you see? A pitiful few. Wrong diet and lack of proper exercise are responsible.

A magnificent challenge, E. M. A.—and one which should make our national face turn plenty pink!

COMES another rebuke — this time from Albert George Edwards of Atlanta, Ga.

"Dear Miss Robinson——

"I, for one, firmly disapprove of Earl Schulz' (Stevensville, Mich.) suggestion that WE REVIVE THE WHIPPING POST. The Whipping Post represents fear in its most brutal and brutalizing form—and any serious thinker knows that NO GOOD CAN EVER BE ACCOMPLISHED BY USING FEAR AS A MEANS OF PUNISHMENT.

"As an excellent example, observe the results in the 19th century of using fear both in our prisons and homes. Children were whipped, as a matter of course . . . convicts were lashed, put in straight jackets, hideously mistreated. THE ONLY RESULT WAS A HARDENING OF THE CHARACTER . . . AN INCREASE IN DECEIT . . . A DETERMINATION TO BE REVENGED.

"Today a few of our progressive penitentiaries are using methods to salvage the prisoner rather than wreck his self-respect; but the chain gang and whipping posts still stand as a blot on our supposed civilization.

"Can you win the friendship of a dog, or bring out the best that is in him, if you continually beat and starve him? Then why should you hope to do so with man?

Albert George Edwards—age 21,

That's a brave and intelligent attitude, son and, I firmly believe, the only attitude which will ever cleanse America of its terrible crime record. Prison brutality is the most vicious form of stupid, brutal emotionalism.

AND now Ruth Fitts of Oakville, Conn., has a word for those who sneer at young idealism.

"The greatest asset Young America has," says Ruth, "is its ability to DREAM.

"Many embittered oldsters will scoff at that, and also many discouraged youngsters. They will say—'Aw, dreams get you nowhere. I dreamed once, too—but look at how my dreams failed me.' BUT IT ISN'T THE DREAM THAT FAILS . . . IT'S THE MAN BEHIND THE DREAM! Stick to your dreams, Young Ameirca . . . keep faith with your ideals. Life is what we make it—by our own thoughts and desires. We can make American life a heaven or a hell . . . by our dreams!" . .

Low Blood Pressure Not Alarming.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Every time I write about high blood pressure I get a sheaf of letters from people with low blood pressure.

"When you are talking about blood pressure, why do you never say anything about low blood pressure? Why always talk about high blood pressure?"

Well, of course, the answer is that low blood pressure is not a disease, certainly not a disadvantage. When I am asked "What should I do about my low blood pressure?" I have been in the habit of answering, "Get down on your knees and thank God for it."

I said this in a group of thin men, one of them a doctor, and he said he wasn't so sure that I was right about it. People with low blood pressure had symptoms and disagreeable sensations. One of the thin men said that when he reached the age when his blood pressure went up, his health improved.

I was inclined to believe that this was merely a superstition or prejudice of his, but the doctor said "No." "I am sure I have felt much better since my blood pressure went up, which it did when I was about 50 years old. I was miserable before that—a chronic invalid, but now I feel fine."

The doctor is a good observer and not emotional, so what he said may be true. At any rate, it is a cheerful side to high blood pressure.

But I believe it is not only the rise in his blood pressure which makes the constitutionally thin person happier after 50. Low blood pressure does go with a kind of type of body—the longitudinal type, with long neck, long chest, and long and usually sagging abdomen. Such persons often are quite miserable in youth—easily fatigued, dyspeptic and neurasthenic. The dyspepsia and constipation come from their drooping abdominal organs — the dropped, flabby stomach and sagging large intestine. When they have survived to 50 their intestines shorten up, the tone of the obdominal walls is increased, they put on a little fat and their digestion is improved. This makes them feel better, as well as the rise in blood pressure, although that undoubtably is a factor.

So I suppose my prescription for the low blood pressurists will have to be changed to "Wait until you're 50 years old." It seems a cruel way to treat a person, but this is a harsh world.

A Song Each Day.

A little song for happiness,
Let that begin the day,
A line or so of some refrain
That's bright and fair and gay.

Dark thoughts put from your mind and turn
With lightness in your heart
To tasks or program, you will find
That is the finest start.

A little tune upon your lips
Or whistled as you go
Will help a lot, do more for you
Than you can really know.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Long Island Sound used to be an easy avenue of escape for thieves and fugitives, but it isn't any more. Too much coast guard. Too many fast, armed cutters on the water and too many fleet ships in the air.

Until a few years ago it was a commonplace for bank and jewel robbers to race out to hidden points on the sound and make their getaway in speedy motorboats. The most classic example on record was that half-million armed-truck robbery in Brooklyn a few years ago. They never have solved that one. They followed the trail to a ragged point on the sound, where a boat had been cached. But there the trail ended.

Now the Coast Guard has any number of ships, some as long as 300 feet, and armed with heavy guns and anti-aircraft equipment. They have crews of over 100 men and depart regularly on five day cruises. Their range is from New London, Conn., to Cape May, N. J., and as far as 500 miles out to sea.

* * *

THAT must be an exciting task, that job. Because you never know what the next assignment will be. You may be cruising calmly off Nantucket one minute and be after rum runners the next. Narcotic runners have to be taken care of too. And the Coast Guard does a lot of rescue work.

Just the other day a call came through that a robbery had taken place and they thought the robbers were making for the Sound. Within five minutes fast boats were racing to that point from New York and from Connecticut. And at that moment planes began droning over head, blanketing the Sound and taking cognizance of every ship in sight. If they saw a boat they couldn't identify, no matter how small (and that means rowboats and canoes) they made it their business to find who they were and where they were headed.

On this particular call no prisoners were taken because the bandits didn't take off that way. They probably knew better. Once a haven of escape, the Sound is now about as healthy, for fugitives, as a crocodile slough.

SHORT Short: About a year ago she won a beauty contest and went to Hollywood to become a glamorous actress. They gave her a bit, and then another bit, and probably she could be playing bits yet if she cared for them. But this girl was smart. She realized she knew next to nothing about acting. So she came back to New York . . . And got a part-time job, and signed up in a school of the drama.

The job she had was selling cigarettes on a roofgarden at one of the hotels. She wanted to learn all the little tricks of acting before she went to Hollywood again.

But sometimes even an actress' plans get changed. And this girl's certainly are. For she fell in love with the drama teacher and married him. And today she is his assistant, giving instructions to students who want to learn how to act.

Heated Gubernatorial Race and School Bonds Stir Up Electors Here.

state aid for parochial schools. The letter is supposedly addressed to Klansmen but was mailed to voters of Catholic faith, they said.

In the second letter referred to by Sawyer forces, it was charged that the name of B. F. Lamb, secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches, also was forged. The letter was sent members of the church organization and in it is made the statement "Davey suits us better than Sawyer", according to Sawyer campaign managers.

G. A. Baer, Sawyer's campaign manager in Richland county, and Atty. John C. O'Donnell, his assistant, said that both letters had been circulated in Mansfield and the county.

On the Democratic ticket for county representative, there is a contest between Ralph C. Lutz of Lexington incumbent, and David W. Cook of Shelby. L Max Daugherty of 101 Helen avenue, Mansfield, and Harry H. Maxwell of Lexington, are opposing each other for the Republican nomination.

There are three aspirants for the nominations for congressman from the 17th district on each ticket. Democratic voters will decide between William A. Ashbrook, veteran congressman from Johnstown, Licking county, Frank Cave of Mansfield, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives and Lee H. Purdy of Coshocton. Republicans will choose between Philip Wolfe of Mansfield, former state senator; Oliver H. Dockery of Newark, and Walter B. Woodward of Bellville.

These contests have been luke warm as compared to the hectic campaign for votes on the part of the Davey and Sawyer organizations. Their campaigns served to stir up considerable interest in Richland county, but local candidates appeared satisfied with "hand-shaking campaigns" and appearances at public gatherings.

Closely rivaling the Democratic gubernatorial race in interest here is the bond issue proposal for carrying out a million dollar building program for Mansfield public schools. This proposal comes before the voters in the form of a question as to whether $550,000 in bonds should be issued to obtain an additional $450,000 in funds from federal sources to build two new junior high schools and finance extensive repairs to other buildings

An intensive campaign in behalf of the proposal was carried out by educational interests in the city.

Election board officials reminded electors today that they may vote only on the school bond issue or relief levies without giving his party affiliation to obtain the ballot.

This decision followed a ruling handed down Saturday by Secretary of State William J. Kennedy, in which he said that to vote on a bond issue or special levy proposal, the elector "is under no obligation to state his party affiliation nor to ask or to vote a party column ballot."

Voters asking only for bond issue or levy ballots will be listed in the poll books under a separate classification headed "Questions and Issues," board attaches said. They will not be classified in the "Democratic" or "Republican" column.

Two Relief Levies.

A relief levy calling for a 2-mill real estate tax producing $208,000 for two years for relief purposes in Mansfield and another levy for one mill to obtain $57,000 in relief funds for Madison township for one year, are the other two local levies.

Elsewhere in Richland county, voters in the Butler village school district will vote on a $49,000 bond issue to build a new high school; Shelby voters will decide a $55,000 bond issue for its municipal waterworks system, and a 1-mill tax levy, a renewal of one now in effect, for general operating purposes.

Recognizing that the Davey-Sawyer fight and the Mansfield school building question will bring out a sizable vote for the primaries, election board officials today announced that 20,000 ballots will be distributed among the county's 90 voting precincts.

The ballot figure is 10 per cent higher than two years ago when the county's total primary vote was 10,055. A total of 6,213 Democrats and 3,842 Republicans voted then.

Booths Open At 6:30 A. M.

Voting booths will open at 6:30 a. m. tomorrow and will close at 6:30 p. m. Supplies for all precincts were being sent out from the board's offices in the courthouse today.

The Richland county campaign will be ended tonight with a Democratic meeting at Grotto hall. Congressman John McSweeney, seeking re-election as congressman-at-large, and Frank Cave, seeking the 17th district nomination, are booked as speakers. E. B. Kallmerten, county Democratic chairman and Davey campaign manager here, is in charge of the session.

Gov. Davey and Sawyer made their final campaign speeches last night in Cleveland.

Sawyer gave an address before 5,000 at a rally sponsored by labor's non-partisan league.

There he reviewed all the charges that have been made against Davey during the past three and one-half years and assured the crowd that if elected governor he would "indulge in none of the practices that have piled wave after wave of criticism upon the governor."

"And I won't quarrel with Democrats in Columbus or Washington," Sawyer added, "as the present governor has done ever since he took office."

Davey also invaded the Cuyahoga metropolis for his final drive. Speaking at a rally sponsored by the state employe's Ohio Social club and attended by between 5,000 and 10,000 persons, the governor made nine separate predictions that he would win by 3-1 over Sawyer.

"Don't you forget it," he shouted, "the Democrats of this state are going to vote for decency and Martin Davey.' "

In commenting on the Ku Klux Klan letter and that purportedly from the Ohio Council of Churches, Judge Hugh L. Nichols, Sawyer's state campaign chairman, said.

"The fraudulent letter issued in the effort to drag the Catholic church and the Ku Klux Klan into joint partnership with Governor Davey, brings to a climax folly the campaign of a discredited, desperate man.

"This is an appropriate culmination of the activities of the most incorrigible trickster ever to attempt to fasten his power upon the people of this state. This mailing of a purported letter of the Ku Klux Klan to Catholics in the effort to drive votes away from his opponent is but one of the characteristic tricks to which this candidate has stooped."

READ THIS FIRST:

Determined to show Dr. Julian Paige, the man she is in love with, that she can make her own way in the world, Noel Shayne, wealthy society girl, burns her bridges behind her, moves to a rooming house and, for lack of anything better, obtains a job as a taxi dancer which she feels will be only temporary. She is living with a girl named Laurie Evans whom she met in the park. Noel feels she has a dangerous rival in Ruth Chester, Julian's pretty nurse, who has been antagonistic. Noel is alarmed when one of the men with whom she dances at the Peacock seems to recognize her and almost discloses her identity to Nick Luigi, the proprietor. Julian calls Noel to take her to dinner before leaving town on a case. She evades him when he asks where she is working. That night a man follows her home from the dance hall.

CHAPTER 10

THE MAN who had followed Noel home the night before was at the Peacock the next evening. He sat alone in the opposite corner of the divan from where Luigi usually sat.

When the Peacock closed that night, he followed her again, keeping a distance behind her of some 15 or 20 feet, not making any attempt to catch up with her.

This time Noel was convinced that the stranger was following her. It caused her more anxiety for him to walk behind her, keeping the same distance, than it would have if he had walked up and accosted her. Then she would have known that he was just an ordinary masher and would have quickly put him in his place. She couldn't imagine why he should shadow her. Did he have designs on her precious $2?

Noel went into the house, her breath coming rapidly. She hadn't dared look behind her when she had come up on the porch of the Court street house, but she had a feeling that the man had stopped on the street in front and was still standing there.

Laurie was in bed, but she was awake, and she knew at once by Noel's expression that something was wrong. When Noel told her, she got up and peeped through a tiny slit she made between the shade and the window. It was true. A man was standing on the sidewalk gazing at the house. But it was too dark to see his face.

"What do you suppose he wants?" Noel asked, her voice tremulous.

"Now, don't worry, Noel," Laurie said comfortingly. "He's just probably got a crush on you, and wanted to know where you lived — just somebody from the Peacock who danced with you."

* * *

But Laurie's words were not very reassuring. Noel thought she had recognized the man she had seen at Luigi's tonight as the same man who had followed her last night. She still couldn't be sure. But she couldn't help feeling there was a sinister purpose behind it all. Everything was going wrong.

Nick Luigi had come out boldly and asked her to have a little dinner with him in his apartment which was on the top floor of the dance palace.

That had happened just as Noel was leaving. She had told Luigi that she was very tired and wanted to go home.

"All right then, baby," he had agreed. "I can be patient, but don't make me wait too long."

Noel had felt that there was a threat in his low, tight-lipped voice. She felt worried about it. And then there was the rent.

"Listen, Laurie," she began, "here's the $2 for tonight, and with the two from last night, Mrs. Blarson ought to be satisfied for a while. We can do without eating until—well, indefinitely, I suppose," she finished with a poor attempt at a laugh.

To Noel's surprise, Laurie's little freckled face was all smiles. "Now you listen," she exclaimed. "I've got a job, and I've also got $5. So we we won't have to do without food."

"And we won't have to duck out, will we?" Noel exclaimed, and sank into a chair with a feeling of relief. "Well, we are progressing," she exclaimed a minute later. "We've both got jobs of—sorts. We can pay the rent and still eat."

Noel looked about the room, which Laurie's efforts had made far more bearable. The curtains were back at the windows, and were actually white and crisp, although a little ragged. The rug looked more faded, but it fairly bristled with cleanliness. Once she had wanted to turn from the room in horror. Now it seemed friendly, even the grotesque old pitcher sitting in the bowl on the funny washstand was like an old friend.

Laurie's news was still more surprising. For her job was that as cashier in the De Luxe cafe, where the former cashier had married unexpectedly.

* * *

When Noel thought of Laurie being in the De Luxe, just across from the Medical Arts, she was conscious of a stab of envy. Why, every day Laurie could look out the plate glass window and see Julian as he went in and out the revolving doors of the building. Laurie of course, didn't realize what a privilege that would be.

Impulsively Noel decided to tell Laurie a little about Julian, so she would at least recognize him when she saw him.

"I sometimes have lunch or dinner with a young doctor friend at the De Luxe," she began. Then told her his name, and gave a brief description. "You'll probably see him."

Laura smiled. "Lots of the doctors take their meals at the De Luxe. And the nurses, too. There's a clinic in the building.

"Yes, I know," Noel nodded. Laurie's words naturally made her think of Ruth Chester, so competent, so crisp and immaculate in her white uniforms and white square-heeled shoes, and so darkly pretty.

She wondered if Ruth Chester was with Julian at New Orleans. She probably was by now, she decided. And New Orleans was such a romantic city with its French quarter, and the old, old houses with their little balconies and "iron lace" and all the beautiful century-old trees with the Spanish moss hanging so gracefully from their branches.

New Orleans was an ideal city for lovers. And no matter whether Julian realized how Ruth Chester felt toward him or not, she would press every possible advantage. In her mind's eye, Noel could see them together there, driving around under the soft southern moon in Julian's shabby car—

Perhaps it was only natural, Noel decided. Ruth couldn't work with Julian day by day—Julian being what he was, the most interesting and fascinating man on earth—and not fall in love with him.

And then Noel remembered something she had often tried to forget and could not. Julian's words and the look of quiet determination on his face that evening in the drawing room at Stone Gate, when he had said so calmly: "The truth is, I have no intention of falling in love with you."

Laurie suddenly broke into Noel's unhappy thoughts. "We'd better get to bed, honey."

"Yes, I suppose so," Noel agreed listlessly.

In spite of Laurie's good news and the fact that the future was looking up, Noel couldn't fight out of her despairing mood.

If she only knew whether Ruth Chester was in New Orleans with Julian or not, she tried to tell herself it wouldn't matter. It was the uncertainty that made her feel so blue.

* * *

She had started on this adventure to prove to Julian that she wasn't the parasite he believed her to be. But it seemed very useless, even perhaps foolish to her tonight. If she hadn't burned every bridge behind her, if there had been any possible loophole left, she might have given up and gone back. She would have to stick it out, no matter if she did weaken and want to go back, however. There wasn't anything else she could do.

When she awakened the next morning, Noel had but one thought. She had to know if Ruth Chester had gone to New Orleans, and if Julian had returned There was only one way to find out.

So Noel called Julian's office. To her surprise Ruth Chester's rich, contralto voice answered. There seemed to be a slight hesitation at her end of the wire when Noel asked if Dr Paige had returned. Then Ruth told her that Dr. Paige was not back yet. He would probably be away several days longer.

Anyway, Ruth wasn't with him, Noel thought happily But that night when she came home from the Peacock, Laurie told her that Dr. Paige had been at the De Luxe for lunch. She had recognized him by Noel's description, also because she had heard someone call him Dr. Paige. So Ruth Chester had lied

WHAT PRICE PETTING?

Moderation Necessity For Moderns

This is another in the series of articles on petting being presented on The News-Journal Woman's Page by the famous authority on problems of love and marriage, Beatrice Fairfax. In these articles Miss Fairfax tells the whys and wherefores of modern youth's "psychological revolution" in regard to petting, and discusses the fundamental dangers of petting along with the attitudes of both the old and young.

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

Common to all normal individuals is the urge of hunger and love. Correspondingly the trait of character most needed toward the proper direction of these two appetites, with the general objective of health and happiness in view, is moderation.

Yet, to read extracts from a book now being widely reviewed, "Youth and Sex," one gets the impression that among the college students subjected to the survey, made by questionnaire, health, happiness and various consequences have been flung into the discard in favor of experience. The following is quoted:

"The promiscuous girls seek to escape in drink as they do in sex, and they are more likely to have come to college for the ride than for the education."

Here's another extract:

"Excessive drinking goes with reckless behavior, although it is caused by some personality difficulties. Chief among these personality difficulties, one gathers, is that sense of inferiority which leads a girl into reckless paths."

The pitiful youngster will pet because she imagines that will make her popular. She will go out with any man for the sake of having a date. Tangible results of such petting parties leave the man more often than not "disgusted."

He is furious over an implied sense of responsibility.

The modern code of man in regard to the ultimate breakdown on the girl's part is, "Why worry, the girl knew what she was about!"

In some of the case histories related in the book already referred to, girls pawned their fur coats, borrowed money from their friends and did typewriting to pay for debts incurred in seeking popularity. Certainly, this is romance reduced to its dreariest prose. A few of these girls hope eventually to find stability in marriage. Surprising is the fact that these emotional vagrants desire to have children "if and when" they marry.

One confesses to a deep sense of curiosity regarding the kind of children such mothers will produce—these girls who have no more will or direction of purpose than seaweed awash with the tide.

If they should marry, we may look for a hardy crop of wilful youth in the next generation, and the psychologists will have their hands full unraveling inherited tendencies.

To suggest restraint or moderation would be regarded as imposing upon the privilege of these youngsters. Or to suggest that, in the interests of their own health and happiness, a sane direction of the life forces is only common sense, and if left blindly to chance—but one must stop short of moralizing or be regarded as quaint.

There are, however, available statistics concerning the waste of life, wrecked health and morale, brought about by casual petting, which did not mean, at first to either the boy or girl much more than a little adventurous excitement.

My Neighbor Says:

Five is about the limit of species of peonies commonly grown.

The common names of these five are fringed, common, Chinese, tree and golden. The fringed peony gets its name from the deeply cut, finely divided leaves. It is the earliest peony to bloom, and after blooming, the plants die down. This one grows one or one and a half feet in height and bears blood-red, fragrant flowers in single or double form.

Take Odd Moments For Beauty

By MME. QUI VIVE

Old Father Time carries a pack of beauty woes upon his back, flings his wares in ladies' faces, which isn't at all nice of him. It's no fun being a target for wrinkles, grey hairs and sagging tissues. We can't fight the whiskered gent all the time, since many of us are fighting the wolf at the door, shelling out money to the landlord, the grocer and all the rest of them who send us valentines on the first of the month. But we can take a pot shot at old Pop Time in our few spare moments.

Let us suppose the dentist is late with your appointment, you have to wait twenty minutes. Don't wriggle your toes and twist your fingers. Put those twenty minutes to use. Relax your nervous system by relaxing your body. Close your eyes—eyes work every waking moment—enjoy a rest. Do breathing exercises. Draw in a deep breath, count four slowly. While counting four exhale, pulling in the tummy, forcing out the air with the diaphragm.

While doing this you can give your face a rest. What, you ask, are faces overworked? Certainly. Tiny fibers are tense when we talk. Relax them. Faces get tired of being in knots. Foreheads weary of frowning, eyes from squinting, lips from producing that company smile.

With nerves at ease, muscles resting, the body machine picks up energy, recharges batteries. Ten minutes of complete relaxation will pull the spirits out of the ditch of depression. Usually, when a woman has to wait for an appointment she thinks about being late for the next one, gets mad and insulted, chews her fingertips, hates the world. A lot of good it does her. She is then Popper Time's first lieutenant. She is giving him help in his campaign for beauty-wrecking.

When reading your mystery story before going to bed, give your scalp a mauling. It likes friction which makes blood streams dance. Spread the fingers over the crown of your head, place thumbs at the nape line. Keep fingers in place, move the flesh with the thumbs. That's catching a beauty treatment on the run.

Don't read on bus or street car. Give your eyes a rest. Give your brain a rest. Think about nothing at all. You can't? You haven't tried. Lots of people have learned to do it. Let the mind go its own way, dream, visualize pleasant places—woods and streams and sky.

Keep posture in mind. You can improve your figure by walking properly, keeping the body balanced, shoulders neither forward nor back, a neat nip in at the waistline at the back. The habit of holding abdominal muscles tight will insure against spread amidships.

Mental health is the greatest of all beauty helps. Chuck the worry. Worry is a habit. The more you worry the more you want to, the more you enjoy it. It is not a noble ambition.

When making garments for small children see that plackets or openings are long enough so they may get in and out of garments easily.

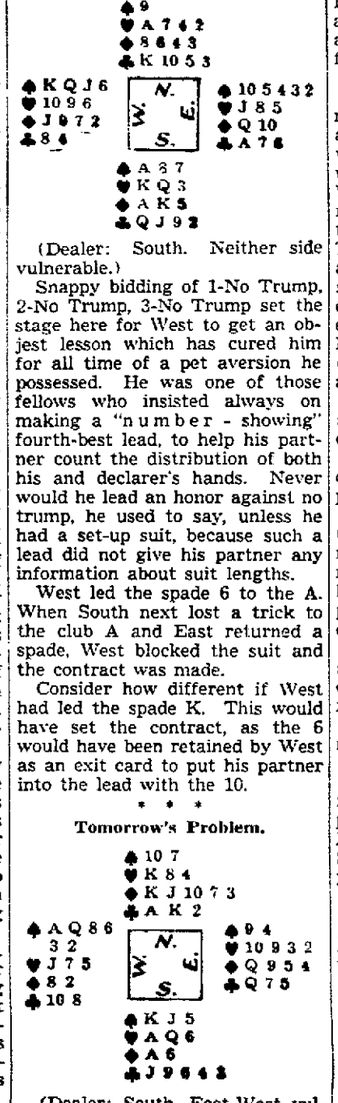
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO TELLING REASONS

Most fair players know one reason why the should generally lead an honor against a no trump contract if their suit contains three of them including a couple of "touchers" such as a king and a queen. They realize that it helps set up the lower honors as trick takers. Many do not comprehend the other important consideration—unblocking for your partner in case he happens to have a longer string in the suit than you have yourself.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

Snappy bidding of 1-No Trump, 2-No Trump, 3-No Trump set the stage here for West to get an objest lesson which has cured him for all time of a pet aversion he possessed. He was one of those fellows who insisted always on making a "number-showing" fourth-best lead, to help his partner count the distribution of both his and declarer's hands. Never would he lead an honor against no trump, he used to say, unless he had a set-up suit, because such a lead did not give his partner any information about suit lengths.

West led the spade 6 to the A. When South next lost a trick to the club A and East returned a spade, West blocked the suit and the contract was made.

Consider how different if West had led the spade K. This would have set the contract, as the 6 would have been retained by West as an exit card to put his partner into the lead with the 10.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

How should South play to make his contract of 3-No Trump after the lead of the spade 6?

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, August 9.

A VERY lively day is forecast from the predominant planetary configurations. There is every indication of a decided move in the direction of stabilizing the affairs, with steady progress in bringing old and stagnating conditions into satisfactory activity through good judgment and sound, constructive work. Social or romantic interests loom large in the day's doings.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of steady progress in their affairs, with much stirring to stabilize lagging or congested situations through practical and well-directed efforts.

A child born on this day may be gracious and kindly, and may gain popularity and happiness in life through its integrity and personality.

A candle may be made to fit any candlestick if dipped for a moment into very hot water. This will soften the wax and it can then be easily pushed in.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I KNEW very well what had prompted Lillian's suggestion that we go across the room and "give the queen the once over," adding the corollary that perhaps Katherine could use us.

It was her concern for me that was at the root of her proposal. She sensed that I was wild with anxiety for Dicky, and that action of some sort was necessary for me. But she knew as well as I that Katherine needed no aid in common emergencies such as the ordinary swoon of exhaustion which was what I estimated this faint of Queen Olga's to be.

I knew something else, also: that Lillian was as anxious over Harry, pursuing the assassin with Dicky, as I was over my husband, and that she, too, would welcome action which would keep her from brooding.

Queen Reviving.

Katherine looked up as we noiselessly approached the couch and held up a warning hand which meant to halt where we were and keep absolutely silent. We obeyed her, but our eyes were no inhibited, and we were able to see the reason for her caution. The face of the unconscious woman was losing its pinched expression and its waxen pallor, and even as we looked, the big "pansy eyes" which had been a toast in European royal circles of a previous generation, fluttered open and clung to Katherine's face.

"Olina?" she breathed with the anxious mother love shared by queens and peasants.

"Right here," Katherine said cheerily, and gestured to the princess standing at her side.

"Careful!" she warned as Olina, with a cry of gladness, moved impetuously toward her mother, and the girl checked her haste and bent gently over the prostrate figure of the exiled queen of Transvania.

"I'm here, Maman," she said softly, and Lillian and I were close enough to see the love and relief in the eyes of her mother.

"Are—we safe?" Olga asked next. "Did we get to—"

Reassures Her.

"You are safe in the Graham farmhouse," Katherine interposed promptly. "Come around in front, Madge, and welcome your guest. She's strong enough now to see you."

With Lillian at my side, I came to the side of the couch, and, with a reassuring little prompting signal from Katherine, bent to the prostrate woman and took her hands in mine.

"Welcome to the farm, my Dear Olga," I said, remembering the injunction she had laid upon Lillian and me to drop her title and address her by her Christian name. "You are safe with us now, and you are not to worry another single minute."

She gave my hand a feeble pressure. Then the grasp relaxed, and I gently put her hands back upon the soft wool coverlet Katherine had flung over her.

"I am so glad," she sighed. "I had so awful a dream. I thought—"

"But you see, it was only a dream, Katherine struck in swiftly "so you musn't let it bother you any more. Now you are to lie perfectly still — Olina may hold your hand—while I get you something warm to drink."

Offers To Help.

"Can't I get it?" I began, and Katherine smiled at me.

"You can help," she said, and with a nod to Lillian, who moved up unobtrusively to the couch, she accompanied me to the kitchen.

"If you'll just rustle me some warm milk," she said, "I'll [illegible] mage in my emergency chest for the stimulant I want. It won't alter the taste of the milk, and it will give some needed strength to our poor, stranded royal guest."

I hurried to the refrigerator, and, taking from it the freshest bottle of milk, I poured about a cupful into a saucepan, lighted a jet of the gas stove and set the pan upon it. Katherine brought out a small bottle from her kit, and with medicine dropper in her other hand stood ready to add her dosage to the milk when it should be heated.

"Did my ears deceive me just now," she said, grinning companionable at me as she waited, "or did I hear you call the former queen of all the Transvanians by her given name?"

THEATER

INTERESTING as the movies which he made is the story of Warner Oland, who died Saturday. Born in Sweden, he went back there to die, but in his life he ranged from wood chopper, tool worker, singer, actor and motion picture player. Of Swedish and Russian ancestry, he could read the two languages before he was four years old. His stage experiences included playing opposite Sarah Bernhardt, in Hall Cain's "The Christian," and the villain in "Under Two Flags." He also appeared with the Russian Nazimova and earned enough money to start his own "Little Theater" in New York City. His first appearance in a motion picture was with Theda Bara in "Jewels of The Madonna," in 1909. He played almost continuously after that and in 1930 began his series of pictures as Charlie Chan, making his last on "Chan At the Ringside," in January of this year. Last year a separation from his wife, Edith Stern of Boston whom he married early in his career, brought about a breakdown in his health from which he never recovered. He died in Stockholm.

* * *

Amazing Doctor.

Edward G. Robinson has one of the most interesting roles of his career as the medico in "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," which the Madison is showing through Thursday. It is the sort of role that Robinson does exceedingly well—hard, brittle, but with a dash of comedy. The interesting climax is a courtroom scene in which the amazing doctor is tried for murder, knowing that if he is found to be sane he will be sentenced to death and that if he can prove he's insane, it means freedom. Humphrey Bogart and Claire Trevor head a capable supporting cast.

* * *

Taylor Gets Break.

Metro-Goldwyn continues to do right by its handsomest star, Robert Taylor, by giving him roles that will wipe out the stigma of being too good looking. In "Three Comrades" they made him a soldier and a garage mechanic, and in his latest picture, "The Crowd Roars" he is a prize fighter and masculine enough to suit even his tormentors. Maureen O'Sullivan is the girl who finally makes up his mind that the prize ring is no place for a family man. The picture carries suspense, human interest and a pleasing romance. It's the Ohio attraction the first half of the week.

* * *

"Treasure Island".

Two players who made as popular a team as ever came to the screen, were Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper. Starting with "The Champ," one of the greatest tear-jerkers of its day, they made a number of pictures together and all of them were box office attractions. One of their best was "Treasure Island" the Robert Louis Stevenson classic, a re-issue of which comes to the Majestic tomorrow for three days. Beery plays the rollicking, one-legged cut-throat and Cooper plays Jim Hawkins. Lionel Barrymore as Billy Bones, Otto Kruger and Lewis Stone round out the cast. "Variety Girls," an English-made film is the second feature.

* * *

Photographic Marvel.

One of the great pieces of spectacular photography of the film industry is the fire scenes in "In Old Chicago," now being shown at the Ritz. It takes its place with such photographic marvels as the earthquake in "San Francisco" and the hurricane in "The Hurricane." The fire, starting in Mrs. O'Leary's barn, spreads to the old tenements and wooden structures that make up the early city, until it seems to wipe out the entire town. Tyrone Power, Don Ameche, Alice Faye, Alice Brady and a half dozen other well known players make up a strong cast.

Fruit Drink Most Cooling These Days

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

THERE'S NOTHING like a fruit drink to make one feel cool when the old thermometer does a dizzy climb. And best and healthiest of all the fruit juices mixed into an ade, a punch or a julep, are the citrus fruits. It is the slight tartness that gives an extra refreshing edge, while the juices themselves lower body temperatures. Citrus juices are nice because they are clear, lacking in bits of pulp, are not oversweet and ice dilution doesn't bother them. They come in cans, too, and research and improved canning methods insure retention of valuable vitamin C. So mix and enjoy these drinks and keep cool.

Grapefruit Ade.

Florida grapefruit ade calls for one-half cup simple syrup, three tablespoons lemon juice, one and one-half cups each canned orange juice and grapefruit juice (or three cups orange-grapefruit blend). Combine and pour over ice just before serving. And right here we pause to tell you that simple syrup for drinks is made by stirring one-half cup each sugar and water in a saucepan over direct heat, until sugar is dissolved.

To heighten the sensation of coolness and give an extra flavor to your cool, tall drinks, use a little oil of peppermint. Avoid using too much; just pour the oil into a teaspoon, then pour the oil back into the bottle. The tiny drops adhering to the spoon will be sufficient; just whisk the spoon through the frosty punch before serving. This is especially good with canned grapefruit when served as a first course or appetizer before dinner.

Basic Recipe For Making Ice Cream

By IRENE OBERLIN
Home Service Department, Ohio Public Service Company.

America's most favored dessert, of course, is ice cream and it steadily increases in popularity. This is due to the great improvement in the commercial product and also to improvements in automatic refrigerators for home freezing. In the diet of young and old alike, we have come to recognize the high nutritive value of ice cream.

Ice Cream Recipe.
(Cooked base).

1½ cups top milk
2 eggs
½ cup sugar
1 Tbsp. corn starch
⅛ tsp salt
½ pt. cream (1 cup)
2 tsp. vanilla

Scald milk—Beat egg yolks, adding sugar and cornstarch Combine with hot milk and cook on low heat 20 to 25 minutes. Surring occasionally. Cool.

Beat egg whites stiff, add salt and fold into custard--add vanilla.

Pour into refrigerator tray to freeze until firm. Whip well chilled cream—not too stiff

Remove frozen mixture to chilled bowl and break up with wooden spoon. Then beat until crumbly and free from large lumps. Add the whipped cream to frozen mixture and return to refrigerator tray to continue freezing --this serves 6 to 8 people

Caramel Ice Cream.

Use the custard base—carmelize 6 Tbsp. of the sugar and carefully add while hot to the scalded milk Continue heating until sugar is again melted. Add the remaining 2 Tbsp. sugar with egg yolks and corn starch.

Burnt Almond.

Use the caramel Ice Cream, adding ½ cup browned ground almonds to mixture when the cream is folded in after the first freezing

Pistachio Ice Cream.

Use the basic custard decreasing vanilla to 1 tsp and adding 1 tsp. almond extract. Color mixture pale green. Add ¼ cup ground pistachio nuts to mixture when cream is folded in after the first freezing.

Peppermint.

Omit the sugar in the basic recipe and add ½ lb. peppermint stick candy finely crushed to the scalded milk. Heat until candy is dissolved and proceed as directed

Mocha Ice Cream.

½ sq unsweetened chocolate
⅔ cup condensed milk (sweetened)
1 cup coffee
¼ tsp vanilla
½ cup heavy cream

Melt chocolate in sauce pan over low heat Add condensed milk and cook for 5 minutes until mixture thickens Add coffee and mix well. Chill and add vanilla Whip cream and fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until about half frozen, then remove from refrigerator Scrape mixture from sides and bottom of pan and stir until smooth Return to refrigerator and freeze until firm Makes 5 to 6 servings

Syllabub, Southern Dish, Comes From Book By Maria Jefferson

(By The AP Feature Service)

RICHMOND, Va. — David Crockett, famed marksman pioneer, turned to his hostess at dinner.

'A delightful meal, ma'am. Fine bird Fine ham A delightful meal, ma'am."

"And how Mr. Crockett," asked the lady, "did you like the dessert—the syllabub?"

"Is that what it was?" countered Crocket "Well, to tell you the truth, ma'am, I liked it fine But it seemed like I shot at something—and missed"

A Cloudy Foundation.

That's one story told in Virginia about one of the South's strictly sectional desserts—syllabub, the lightest of light after-dinner concoctions and the foundation, or rather the cloud, on which many another dessert has been built

But Davey Crockett wasn't born until 1786 and syllabub was famous long before his time. Go back, for instance, to William Byrd (1674-1744), whose home, Westover, was "the quintessence of Virginia aristocracy."

Byrd reputedly was the first man of letters in North America and he was an admirer of "that bewitching vegetable, tobacco." Of a visit to Colonel Spottswood, also Virginian, Byrd wrote that after dinner they fell to talking He said:

" . . . Our conversation with the ladies, like whip sillabub, was very pretty, but had nothing in it."

That's a little hard on the Virginia ladies, but it shows that syllabub (as it's spelled today) had even then the elusive quality that evoked Davey's target simile.

HOW TO MAKE SYLLABUB

Maria Jefferson, daughter of the President, wrote this recipe for good old Virginia syllabub, but forgot to specify quantities. Those given have been supplied by Mrs. John Munce, jr., a Richmond, Va., hostess who serves a famous syllabub:

To a pint of top milk, add a half-cup of white wine and a quarter-cup of sugar. Whip until frothy, fill parfait glasses nearly full and crowned with whipped cream, seasoned.

Syllabub Plus.

This is Miss Jefferson's recipe, verbatim, for Floating Island, one of the desserts that stem from syllabub:

"Have the bowl nearly full of syllabub, made with milk, white wine and sugar, beat the whites of six new laid eggs to a strong froth and mix with it strawberry or raspberry marmalade enough to flavor and color it; lay the froth lightly on the syllabub; first putting in some slices of cake; raise it in little mounds, and garnish with something light."

Jefferson's Daughter.

Syllabub is not mentioned often in books on Southern cookery. But Maria Jefferson, daughter of the sage of Monticello, included it in her book "The Virginia Housewife," published in Washington in 1824.

Mrs. John Munce, jr., Richmond hostess, whose collection of old books on Southern foods is considered the best hereabouts, took her recipe for syllabub and its more formal by-product, "Floating Island," from Miss Jefferson. Mrs. Munce painted it out in the yellowed text of an original copy near a recipe for "Dough Nuts—A Yankee Cake" and just behind one for "Plebian Gingerbread."

"We serve it often," Mrs. Munce said. "It's particularly nice when the main courses of a meal are rather heavy. As a matter of fact, I think there' a bowl of syllabub in the refrigerator now. We'll try some . . ."

" . . . And now," asked Mrs. Munce when we had finished, "wasn't that nice?"

It was indeed. But then there was something in what Davey Crockett said.

Maybe it's the lightness of syllabub that's so elusive. For there's another old story about the dessert that runs like this:

A little boy was given a dish of syllabub to deliver to a sick neighbor. The boy got there, but there was no syllabub in the dish. Well, what would any father have done in the days when they believed that to spare the rod was to spoil the child? Ah, yes.

But all the while his father was spanking him, the little boy insisted he hadn't eaten the syllabub. The wind got under the cloth that covered the dish and blew the syllabub away!

Chill Pie Dough

Before you roll out your pie dough to fit it into pie pans chill the dough thoroughly. Doing so makes it easier to handle. Then roll out just enough dough for one pie crust at a time. Work quickly, and roll from the center to the outside. Try to keep the shape as round as possible.

Always store matches in a covered tin box or pail—out of reach of small children and away from heated pipes or stoves. Be sure your matches are extinguished before you discard them. Never light matches in closets, garages or poorly-ventilated places.

"CONVINCING PROOF" Says Mansfield Woman:
"It's Economy Itself--- For It Costs Me But
$2.38
A Month to Cook On My Electric Range"

"Not only was I gratified, but amazed as well, to learn that it has cost me but $2.38 a month to bake and cook for our family of five with my WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC RANGE. Believe, me, I could never go back to the "old-fashioned range" method of cooking, after once using this modern kitchen proved method. My Westinghouse gives me kitchen cleanliness and coolness, speed of food preparation and now I know that my 'home workshop' is truly a modern one. If my guests express a wish to see my kitchen, I derive a satisfaction from their exclamations on the beauty of the range. But when I tell them that it costs me but $2.38 a month to run, they are amazed, at its economy."
